SIGHT GIANT DIRIGIBLE MISSING IN GALE

Reports From African Coast Say Huge Airship Is Under Control

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Dispatches received late last night stated that the Dixmude had been observed flying in the neighborhood of Tunis, Algeria, apparently under control and seeking a place where it would be possible to land without wrecking the dirigible. At the time the dispatch was filed it had been impossible for the shore stations to establish wireless communication with the airship.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Late last night the French ministry of marine issued a statement that the most grave fears are held that the French dirigible Dixmude with its crew of fifty-seven has been lost.

The great airship was last seen at dusk last night drifting helplessly in a terrific Mediterranean storm near the Gulf of Gabes.

Apparently it was being driven by the storm over the rocky wilderness of the Aurea plateau.

The region is almost entirely uninhabited and enforced landing would mean almost certain destruction of the dirigible and leave the men without water or food in what is described as one of the most desolate regions of Europe.

The Dixmude at 10 p. m. had been in the air 160 hours with rations aboard for only seventy-two hours.

Officials refused to give out the names of the crew of the ship to anxious relatives who besieged the naval offices tonight.

Crew Reported Ill
The craft was reported to be without gasoline, the food supply is believed to be exhausted and many of the crew were reported ill by the last advice received from her commander Sunday.

The Dixmude, according to American officers, was built by Germany during the war to bomb the city of New York.

WOMEN CAUGHT IN BURNING AUTO

Drunken Driver Forces Car Off Highway; Victims Go to Hospital

LONG BEACH, Dec. 25.—A car careening madly down the road, a drunken driver at its wheel—another car forced off the road as it sped by—a burst of flame as the second car overturned in the ditch—and two women are in the hospital.

The women, Miss Doris Reed and Mrs. Isabel Dickinson of Santa Fe Springs, were driving on the highway near Los Alamitos yesterday when they observed the other machine bearing down upon them at breakneck speed, traveling drunkenly from one side of the road to the other as it approached.

The two women were transfixed with terror for a moment. But only for a moment—then Mrs. Dickinson took the only possible course open to her. As the speeding car headed directly for her machine, she gave the wheel a quick turn and headed her own coupe into the ditch at the roadside.

The coupe overturned with a crash. The other machine sped by, wholly indifferent to the tragedy which it had caused.

Mrs. Dickinson's car burst into flames at once, as gasoline, leaking from the main tank, was ignited as it poured over the hot exhaust pipe. The entire machine immediately enveloped in a mass of flames.

Although badly injured and partly pinned down by the overturned car, the two women managed to crawl a safe distance away from the burning machine before they collapsed.

M. J. Thomas of 830 Olive avenue, Long Beach, rushed Mrs. Dickinson and Miss Reid to this city. They were taken to St. Mary's hospital, where it was found that Mrs. Dickinson suffered a fracture of the right arm and Miss Reid a fracture of the collarbone.

Xmas Shopping Sets New Mark In This City

Christmas shopping closed in a rush and crush last night. Merchants say that all records for December sales have been broken. They declare the holiday trade was the heaviest ever known here.

People who in the past have been in the habit of buying many of their gifts elsewhere, this year made their purchases in Glendale and found that it paid, financially and otherwise.

People of Glendale seemed to be out this year for a record of 100 per cent loyalty to home merchants. And they certainly registered to the limit.

So it's a Merry Christmas all around! And here's to a great, glorious and prosperous New Year!

SCENIC ROAD IS GIFT TO GLENDALE

City Gets $100,000 Scenic Road in Glen Oaks; Plan to Hold Parade

Miss Glendale hung up her stocking last night and when she awoke this morning found that Santa Claus, in the shape of the Glen Oaks syndicate, of which Colonel Walter P. Story, John R. Powers and C. T. Tryon, all of Los Angeles, are members, had presented her with a $100,000 boulevard extending from the present eastern terminus of Sierra avenue through Scholl canyon, or Glen Oaks park, as it is now known, to the Linda Vista district of Pasadena.

Work on the new boulevard, which will be seventy feet wide with no grade exceeding 7 per cent, will be started upon the arrival of the steam shovel from Hollywood tomorrow, and will be rushed to completion, which is expected will be within ninety days.

Plan Parade
The Ross-Brown company of Los Angeles, who will build the road for the syndicate, are today having the engine changed from a coal burner to an oil burner on account of the danger of fire in the canyon. Banners fastened on the shovel read: "I'm on my way to Glen Oaks, the beauty spot of Glendale, the fastest growing city in America."

Upon arrival in Glendale, members of the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce, with other organizations, will fall in line behind the shovel in cars, and join the parade up Brand boulevard. Appropriate exercises at the site of the beginning of the boulevard will be held either tomorrow or Thursday.

This fine Christmas present is not the only gift of the Glen Oaks syndicate to Glendale. Some time ago they provided a park site of two acres, upon which they are now building four tennis courts and a community house, at their own expense, which they will give the city when completed.

Laying Water Main
In addition, they are laying a twelve-inch water main the whole length of the boulevard from the recently acquired reservoir site of the city, costing over $10,000.

"In addition to providing an alternate route to Pasadena for Glendale residents, thereby relieving the congestion on Michigan and Colorado boulevards," said Mr. Powers yesterday, "the new boulevard will traverse country the scenic beauties of which are without an equal in this section. The road will be approximately two and one-half miles long, and will traverse a canyon that is most beautiful. Without being too enthusiastic, I may say that we have the most wonderful scenery in reach of Los Angeles."

State Shows Premium Income of $5,500,000
SACRAMENTO, Dec. 25.—All previous records in the State Compensation Insurance Fund were broken in 1923 with a premium increase of nearly $1,000,000 over 1922, according to the report filed by Clark B. Day, manager of the fund.

It is estimated by Day that the total premium income for the present year will be $5,500,000. Actual premiums earned by the fund aggregated $330,000 in excess of 1922 earnings, according to the report.

Policyholders in the state fund, according to Manager Day, will receive $1,500,000 on policies issued during 1923.

GAIN the season of good will to men is upon us. For weeks the spirit of Christmas has enveloped us to culminate in this blessed day that commemorates the birth of the Christ child. The Christmas theme is unselfishness, and how it penetrates our hearts in spite of everything. Unselfishness reigns at this season even though some of us commercialize and pervert the true meaning of Christmas. You may resolve not to observe Christmas this year, meaning that you will make no gifts, but you find yourself entering into the joy of the season and exchanging with friends and relatives the most loving greetings. The Christmas spirit cannot be thrown off at will.

The hope, the joy, the peace, the good will that came to the world at Christ's birth is revived in us each year in spite of ourselves. The most selfish of us is apt to find some thought of others, some unselfish motive creeping into our hearts on this blessed anniversary.

And what a joy it is to plan gifts for those we love or who would have no Christmas cheer but for us. The giving of gifts is a happy custom. But, to buy expensive gifts when we cannot afford them because we have not the courage to accept from others without giving in return, is to make of Christmas a burden instead of a day of hope and joy.

It is the thought of others that counts on Christmas, that brings the warmth around the heart and impels us to join in the refrain of "Glory to God in the highest, peace on earth, good will to men." The joy of the children at Christmas is infectious and the efforts of philanthropic organizations and churches in behalf of the unfortunate meet with a hearty response at this season as at no other time of the year.

The Glendale Evening News has every reason to reflect the Christmas spirit. Friends in abundance and success beyond our hopes have attended our efforts in behalf of Glendale. It seems such a trite and inadequate return to wish our readers a Merry Christmas and yet this greeting contains the essence of the Christmas spirit when it is tendered in good faith. And so The Glendale Evening News extends to all its friends and readers earnest wishes that all the blessings of the most blessed of days be showered upon you.

$4,000,000 Paid Out To Apricot Growers

SAN JOSE, Dec. 25.—Advance payments of $4,000,000 have been made to growers, it is announced by General Manager A. M. Mortensen, of the California Prune & Apricot Growers' Association. Of this sum, one million dollars represents sales of dried fruit by the association.

Additional payments totaling $250,000 will be made before the close of the year, said Mortensen.

Referring to reports that large quantities of prunes had been spoiled after packing and were destroyed by the association, Mortensen said the total loss would not exceed one per cent of the 1923 crop.

The advance payments are being made on the basis of 3 cents per pound for prunes and 4 cents on apricots, as agreed upon at the beginning of the season.

IMPRESSIVE YULETIDE SERVICE STAGED

Community Program Centers Round Tree Ablaze With Many Lights

Just as the star of Bethlehem guided the wise men of the East to the manger where Jesus was born twenty centuries ago, a huge electric lighted star atop the Christmas tree on the Glendale Union High School grounds on East Harvard street last night served as a beacon for the hundreds of men, women and children who attended the Community Service Christmas program.

The program was short, but with the singing of Christmas songs and special yuletide anthems, the appearance of Santa Claus, and the giant Christmas tree from which several hundred electric bulbs blazed, the crowd was manifestly touched by the spirit of the occasion.

Starting with a prayer by Dr. Henry L. Rasmus, Sr., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, the program was carried out with several musical numbers following in succession.

Musical Chorus Sing
Following the prayer the Glendale Choral club, consisting of fifty-four voices, members of the Oratorio society and choirs of the various churches of the city, seated on the specially erected platform in front of the high school building, sang a number of songs, with J. Arthur Myers directing. The accompaniment was played by Mrs. Gertrude Chapman Erb.

With the lights dimmed over the crowd, which numbered several hundred people, Mr. Myers led in community singing of "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," the words of which were thrown upon a screen hung from the doorway of the school building.

As the singing proceeded only the star above the Christmas tree was left lighted, while the colored lamps flashed off and on, first the blue and then the red.

This song was followed by the singing of "Joy to the World" and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear."

At the conclusion of their part of the program, the Choral club proceeded to the Glendale Sanatorium and Hospital, where they sang for the patients, bringing cheer to those whose Christmas is not so bright as those who were so fortunate as to attend the program at the high school.

Urges Xmas Spirit
Following the departure of the Choral club and the announcement by R. Ernest Tucker, secretary of Glendale Community Service, who was responsible for the Christmas program, in a short address.

Seek White Workers To Replace Japanese

STOCKTON, Dec. 25.—Realtors and organizations working for the benefit of San Joaquin county today voted to start a campaign for white farmers throughout the country to replace the 10,000 Japanese workers at present laboring on 70,000 acres of delta lands. An equal number of white workers is desired.

With crop contracts between large land companies and Orientals declared illegal by the supreme court, this acreage, now planted largely to onions, potatoes, celery and asparagus, will revert to barley production, unless sufficient white labor can be secured.

Conditions will be published exactly as they are in the campaign to secure white farmers. The delta district is unique in that irrigation is reversed. During the winter and spring many of the islands are below water level and must be drained by power. Five thousand acre potato fields are not uncommon and neighbors are scarce.

Paper Out Early Christmas Morning

CHRISTMAS RUSH SETS NEW RECORD

Stocks Depleted as Shoppers Jam Stores In Orgy of Holiday Buying

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.
Merry Christmas? We'll say it's more. Especially for the Tired Business Man. He is awakening this beautiful day, perhaps in time for the turkey dinner tonight, for it has been a most strenuous, prosperous season with him.

Glendale stores set new records
for business in the last ten days.
Practically every store in town
was jammed to capacity Saturday and Monday and only the intervention of Sunday saved the day for many merchants who had not anticipated the record rush of Christmas shoppers.

It is difficult to get any comprehensive figures, but just a few incidents will reveal the great volume of business rung up on the cash registers in the last minutes of the buyers' carnival.

Christmas Figures
One haberdashery did $3000 on Saturday when ordinarily $300 a day is considered a good business.
A candy dealer took in $800 yesterday on the remnants of a box
stock in which all of the Christmas packages had disappeared over the week-end. All of the drug stores set new sales records and their stocks are severely depleted. Local ice cream and candy makers could not cope with the business, turning down many orders. And even cigar dealers reported that they never contemplated such sales as were made between Saturday noon and Monday midnight.

In the department stores the Christmas goods were practically sold out by 6 o'clock. The great supply of trees were carefully planted in the homes. The jewelers were among the many merchants who have only their display cases left after the orgy of holiday shopping. The Western Union office here had its force working late into the night dispatching the many Christmas night letters filed during the evening. And even the restaurants did an unprecedented business
Christmas eve, as well as Sunday and Saturday nights.

Trading at Home
Glendale outdid itself in the matter of "trading at home." It will take two or three days for the Tired Business Men to get stocks back to normal. Today you will likely find him "enjoying himself" for the first time in the week and the theatres will be thronged with the happy Glendale families after the Christmas dinner "and all its fixings" which the Tired House Wife has been planning for weeks.

Sure, it's a Merry Christmas!

FORGOTTEN!

No heartache can compare with that first realization that Santa Claus has forgotten to come dress to the huge gathering that was assembled about the Christmas tree, urged that all manifest

the Christmas spirit, and help make this the greatest yuletide celebration in the history of the city.

While the children were eagerly looking with questioning eyes
for the ever mysterious Santa Claus, Mr. Tucker hinted that Boy Scouts, who were assisting in keeping order among the celebrants, would make an attempt to and this much desired old gentleman. Presently, with bells a-ringing and shouts of Merry Christmas, Santa appeared on the platform and addressed the crowd.

He was attired in the traditional red costume trimmed with white fur, with his long flowing white beard, giving the appearance of old Kris Kringle himself.

Star Over Birthplace
"Don't forget," Santa said in the beginning, "that about 1900 years ago tonight, our Christ was born in Bethlehem. Remember just as there is the blazing star
on top of this Christmas tree,
there was a star over the place where Jesus was born, and there went the wise men and brought special presents to Jesus."

"I have been working in the world since that time. I am the spirit of love, the spirit of kindness, and I try to do all the good
I can. I work hard the year round, so that I may make little boys and girls happy on Christmas. Christmas means the time to give, just as it has been the custom since Christ was born."

Santa Claus, who was characterized by Dr. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of Congregational church,
then told how he had made arrangements to see that all the children of Glendale got presents.
But had run short of gifts for the children in the Orthopedic Hospital in Los Angeles. He asked that everyone who had presents, to send them forward by the Boy Scouts, who would aid in taking them to the unfortunate inmates of the hospital.

Many Answer Call
The call was answered by a generous response, and scores of neatly wrapped packages, including many toys discarded or sacrificed by children, were collected on the platform. When the presents had all been collected, Santa Claus disappeared through the doorway of the school building amidst wild shouts of laughter and cheers, with farewell greetings of Merry Christmas and hopeful entreaties from the smaller children to "Don't forget me tonight, Santa."

Especially appropriate to the occasion was the singing by the Choral club, which made its first public appearance last night.
Their singing of the Christmas carols was met with many cheers from the crowd, and later, when the singing of community songs

was started, the crowd joined heartily in the chorus.

Band Pleases
The Glendale Community service band, which provided music throughout the program between the other features, was directed by Arthur Ballue. The band played a large number of beautiful selections, and met much applause from the audience. Included in its membership are several boys
still in the grade school.

Various phrases of commendation were heard about the beautiful Christmas tree, which stood in front of the school entrance, and measured about fifty feet in height.

Credit for the beautiful effects and decorations is due members of the Glendale fire department, who worked several hours to complete it in time for the program
last night. Lumber for the platform, on which the singers and the speakers stood, was donated by the Bentley Lumber company.

Spoiled Canned Food Is Cause of Death

REDDING, Cal., Dec. 25.—Nibbling at spoiled canned food caused the death of Mrs. Francis Howard, who died here Sunday
after six days' lingering illness, according to the results of an investigation made here. Mrs. Howard tasted a quantity of the spoiled food after it had been thrown away, causing the death of 200 chickens.

A report from the state board of health, which made an analysis of the canned food, held that Mrs.
Howard's death was "unquestion-ably due to botulism."

THE GLENDALE

Otis Harlan offers an unusual characterization in his portrayal of "Easy Aaron" Croppsey, itinerant lawyer and philosopher, in
"Pioneer Trails," a Vitaphone superfeature which is running at the Glendale Theatre. The portrayal of this role is one of the finest characterizations Mr. Harlan has ever done for the screen.

As the sentimental ne'er-dowell member of the bar in a wild western town during the early 70's, Harlan is called upon to characterize a type both remarkable and necessary for the action of the story.

Cullen Landis and Alice Calhoun are seen in the leading roles of this David Smith production.
Starting last Sunday, "Pioneer Trails" is billed for five days at the Glendale. It will close with Thursday night's showing.

AMERICAN JUDGE LAUDS BRITONS

Methods Leave Little to Be Desired, He Says, Citing
Wise Policies

LONDON, Dec. 25.—"Although I am not an Anglophile in the sense that I turn up my trousers in New York when it rains in London, I have come to the conclusion, after having visited every inhabited quarter of the globe and made several trips around the world, that wherever the British flag flies there you will find sobriety and righteousness," Judge Henry Douglas Pearce, of Indianapolis, now in London on vacation, said in an interview.

"As a judge of the American courts I may claim to have a reasoning mind," said the judge.
"and because I do take the trouble to study questions in their true perspective I have come long ago to the conclusion that Britain's methods leave little to be desired.
"America is closely following Britain's footsteps in the matter of the Philippines, and by doing so, instead of creating a subject race, we are introducing a new son in the family. In none of the British possessions that I visited could I, as a hundred per cent
American, point my finger and say, 'Things are managed better than this in America.'"

"We Americans always speak of our country as the land of the free, but I think that the British people are considerably freer than we are."

"The Englishman is free to commit crimes of violence, but he doesn't because he has the benefit of precedent and tradition behind him. That is what makes the British, as an Empire, the finest group of brotherhood nations the world is ever likely to see."

FACTS AND FIGURES PROVE GLENDALE'S BIG NEED OF COMPLETE SEWER SYSTEM

Officials Point Out Why City Must Vote Bond Issue to Secure Health Protection and to Continue Great Growth and Full Prosperity; Project Is Much Cheaper Than Annexation

Glendale must either vote the $1,600,000 sewer bonds or face annexation to Los Angeles, declares Councilman Sam Davis, who, with Mayor Spencer Robinson and the members of the City Council and other forward-looking Glendalians, have sponsored and pushed this movement from the start.

With an adequate, up-to-date sewer system assured, the city will attain a population of 100,000 in three years, experts predict. Without such a system, Glendale must ultimately beg mercy of Los Angeles and be absorbed.

Therefore, the sewer bond campaign, Councilman Davis asserts, must meet the annexationists on their own ground and defeat them with cold facts. At a recent meeting held by the Glendale Foothill Improvement Association in the Grand View school, he produced a series of arguments backed up by figures that were so conclusive debt, with a great deal higher tax rate than at present, and without the very sewer system they are certain to get under the present plan.

Judging from the numbers of questions asked and from the satisfaction expressed over the clear replies, it can be safely stated that when Glendale people understand the sewer matter in its various angles, they become heartily in favor of it. On the night of December 18, the occasion of the public mass meeting called to explain the sewer project to all Glendale, it is urged by Mayor Robinson and Councilman Davis that every resident of the city who does not thoroughly understand every angle of this great forward-looking project be present as a civic duty and obtain the enlightenment that will make his vote a sewer bond issue.

Chester A. Smith, engineering expert for the firm of Burns & McDonnell, who are making Glendale's preliminary sewer survey, addressed the meeting of the Foothill Improvement Association Tuesday night of this week, declaring that his organization had never before experienced a city of Glendale's size totally without a sewer system and stating that generally it is considered a serious enough matter when a community reaches 10,000 population without adequate disposal facilities.

Taking up each of the five Lippencott proposals of a year ago, Mr. Smith analyzed them and showed why they were not practical for Glendale.

Going into some detail on Pasadena's sewer farm problem, he showed that the system was unsatisfactory at the present time and giving a great deal of trouble, in addition to requiring constant large outlays of capital to maintain.

The fact that cities so located as Glendale must ultimately form metropolitan sewer districts, as is done in Boston and other eastern cities, was stressed by Mr. Smith, who pointed out that Fullerton, Anaheim and a number of surrounding communities have already formed such a district, with Santa Ana as their consolidation point, while Linwood, Watts and communities in that neighborhood are forming such a district at the present time.

The Pacific ocean is the one and only natural sewage outlet for Southern California, Mr. Smith told his audience. All other arrangements were makeshifts, he said, and would in the end prove costly, insufficient and unhygienic.

Future Growth

The impossibility of predicting the future growth of such centers as Glendale was stressed by Mr. Smith, it being pointed out that three years ago it was believed by experts that the city would attain a population of 40,000 by 1940.

It was for this reason, he said, that the present plan calls for a system, connecting with the Los Angeles outfall, of such capacity as to care for a population of 1,000,000 in Glendale and surrounding communities, while allowance is made for 20 per cent in excess of an ultimate Glendale population of 240,000.

The election called for January 8 is to authorize the $1,600,000

Description of Sewer

The following description of the proposed Glendale sewer system is given by the firm of Burns & McDonnell, noted sewer engineers:

The accompanying map shows the nine proposed intercepting lines or mains which are planned to bring the sanitary sewer system within reach of every home in the city of Glendale. The heavy lines shown on the map and marked "Main No. 1," etc., indicate the location and size of the mains to serve the city.

Main No. 1—Varies from 8-inch to 12-inch in diameter and connects with the main outfall sewer at Tyburn avenue and Hollywood drive, and follows Tyburn avenue to Gardena avenue, thence to Los Feliz road, thence on Los Feliz road to San Fernando, thence on San Fernando to Magnolia.

Main No. 2—Varies from 8-inch to 18-inch in diameter and connects with the main outfall sewer at Parkdale avenue and west of San Fernando road and follows Parkdale to San Fernando, thence on San Fernando to Palmer, thence on Palmer to Glendale avenue, thence on Glendale avenue to Elk avenue.

Main No. 2-A—Varies from 8-inch to 12-inch in diameter and connects with Main No. 2 at Los Angeles street and Parkdale and follows Los Angeles street to San Fernando road, thence on San Fernando road to Elk avenue.

Main No. 3—Varies in size from 8-inch to 15-inch in diameter and connects with Main No. 2 at Palmer and Glendale avenue. This main follows Palmer avenue, Adams, Acacia and Verdugo road to Colorado street.

Main No. 4—Varies from 8-inch to 22-inch in diameter and connects with the main outfall sewer on Colorado and west of San Fernando road. This line follows Colorado, Glendale, Harvard, Sycamore Canyon road and Sierra avenue to Scholl drive near the head of Scholl canyon. This main will take care of the principal commercial district of Glendale.

Main No. 5—Varies in diameter from 8-inch to 15-inch and connects with Main No. 4. This line follows San Fernando road, Salem and Chester to Patterson avenue.

Main No. 6—Varies from 8-inch to 24-inch in diameter and connects with the main outfall sewer at Aviation drive and west of San Fernando. This line follows Aviation drive to San Fernando, thence on San Fernando to the northwest city limits of Glendale.

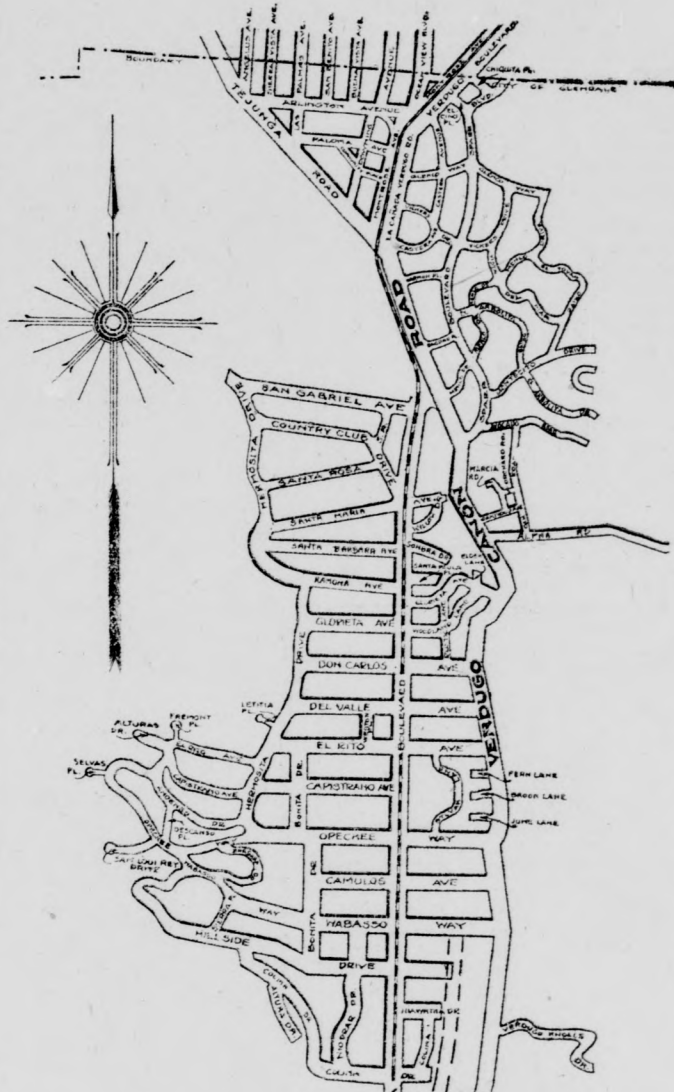

Main No. 7—Varies from 12-inch to 18-inch in diameter and connects with Main No. 6 on San Fernando road. This line follows along Palm drive and Dryden street until it comes to the point on Verdugo road where it will connect with the present sewer system which is already constructed in Verdugo canyon but has no outlet.

Main No. 8—Varies from 8-inch to 12-inch and connects with Main No. 6 at San Fernando and Grand View. This line follows Grand View to Glenwood road, thence on Glenwood road to Virginia avenue.

These nine mains listed above connect with the main outfall sewer which follows approximately the line of the Los Angeles river to Sixth and Utah where it connects with the outfall sewer of the city of Los Angeles, a distance of approximately ten miles. The cost of construction of the nine mains in Glendale is $277,500 and the cost of the main outfall sewer is estimated at $1,322,500.

Lines of Sewer System Are Shown on City Map

Exact location of the main trunk line and nine intercepting lines of Glendale's proposed sewer system are shown below in the map of the city, prepared by Burns & McDonnell, sewer experts of Los Angeles and Kansas City, who are making the preliminary survey.

NEED HARD WORK IN BOND ELECTION

Resolutions Won't Pass Is sue, Is Warning Given By Councilman Davis

By RALPH A. LYND
Member of The Evening News Staff

"You can't win elections by eating at banquets nor by passing resolutions. You have got to get out and gather in the voters that are working at their duties in their homes, in the backyards and elsewhere, and you've got to lead over the backyard fences and get in your work for the sewer bond before you can get the people out to vote."

So declared Councilman Sam Davis in a speech before the members of the Glendale Realty board at a recent luncheon in the Glendale Tavern. Davis quoted in detail from the figures he has compiled from official sources, showing that Glendale, in the event of annexation to Los Angeles, would be compelled to assume its share of the bonds that Los Angeles has issued amounting to $11,155,550, or $25.81 per capita, against the assumption of $26.67 per capita that would be assessed in the event that the city of Glendale builds its own sewers through the bond issue of $1,600,000. These figures are based on an estimated population of 60,000 people in Glendale by the time the sewers are completed.

Mr. Davis quoted from a copy of the minutes of the Los Angeles City Council of November 15 and of November 17, showing, by direct answers to persons here who favor consolidation, that, in the event of annexation, Glendale would have to float bonds to pay for whatever sewers would be necessary and to bear the cost of connecting with the outfall sewer, or that it would have to form a local bond district and assess such district or issue bonds to build sewers in the business section of the city. "And even then, the minutes state that it would be at least twelve months after annexation had been decided upon before such a sewer system could be installed," Mr. Davis declared.

Will Boost Value

"It would pay the people of Glendale to build these sewers if they never ran a drop of water down them," asserted Mr. Davis. "The sight of constructive work being done in the streets of the city would be the greatest inducement to newcomers to settle here that could be devised, and the advance in property values would more than take care of the cost of the entire system."

In introducing the men who were to speak on the sewer proposition President Peter Hanson paid a tribute to Mayor Spencer Robinson and the members of the council who have worked so hard to secure the contract between Glendale and Los Angeles, pledging the support of the Glendale Realty board to pass the bonds at the coming election.

Declaring that Glendale will have a population of 50,000 people by the first of 1924, Manager

W. H. Reeves stated that during the past year, $101,650 had been expended in Glendale to build 2033 cesspools, money which, he asserted, had been practically wasted. And septic tanks that were built cost an immense amount in addition to the cost of the cesspools, he declared.

Praises Agreement

"The sewer system as planned now, will be big enough to take care of Glendale for the next fifty years," Mr. Reeves asserted, "and if this city is annexed to Los Angeles the system will cost double what it will cost if built from the proceeds of our own bond issue. The agreement Glendale has made with Los Angeles gives us what we want, and we should go ahead and pass these bonds by a sweeping majority."

Chester A. Smith, representing Burns & McDonnell, the engineers who have made the survey and drawn the plans for the sewer system, showed on his maps just where the various mains and lateral sewers would run, stating that the sewers had been planned on a basis that would take care of the requirements of the entire San Fernando valley up to a population of 1,000,000 people.

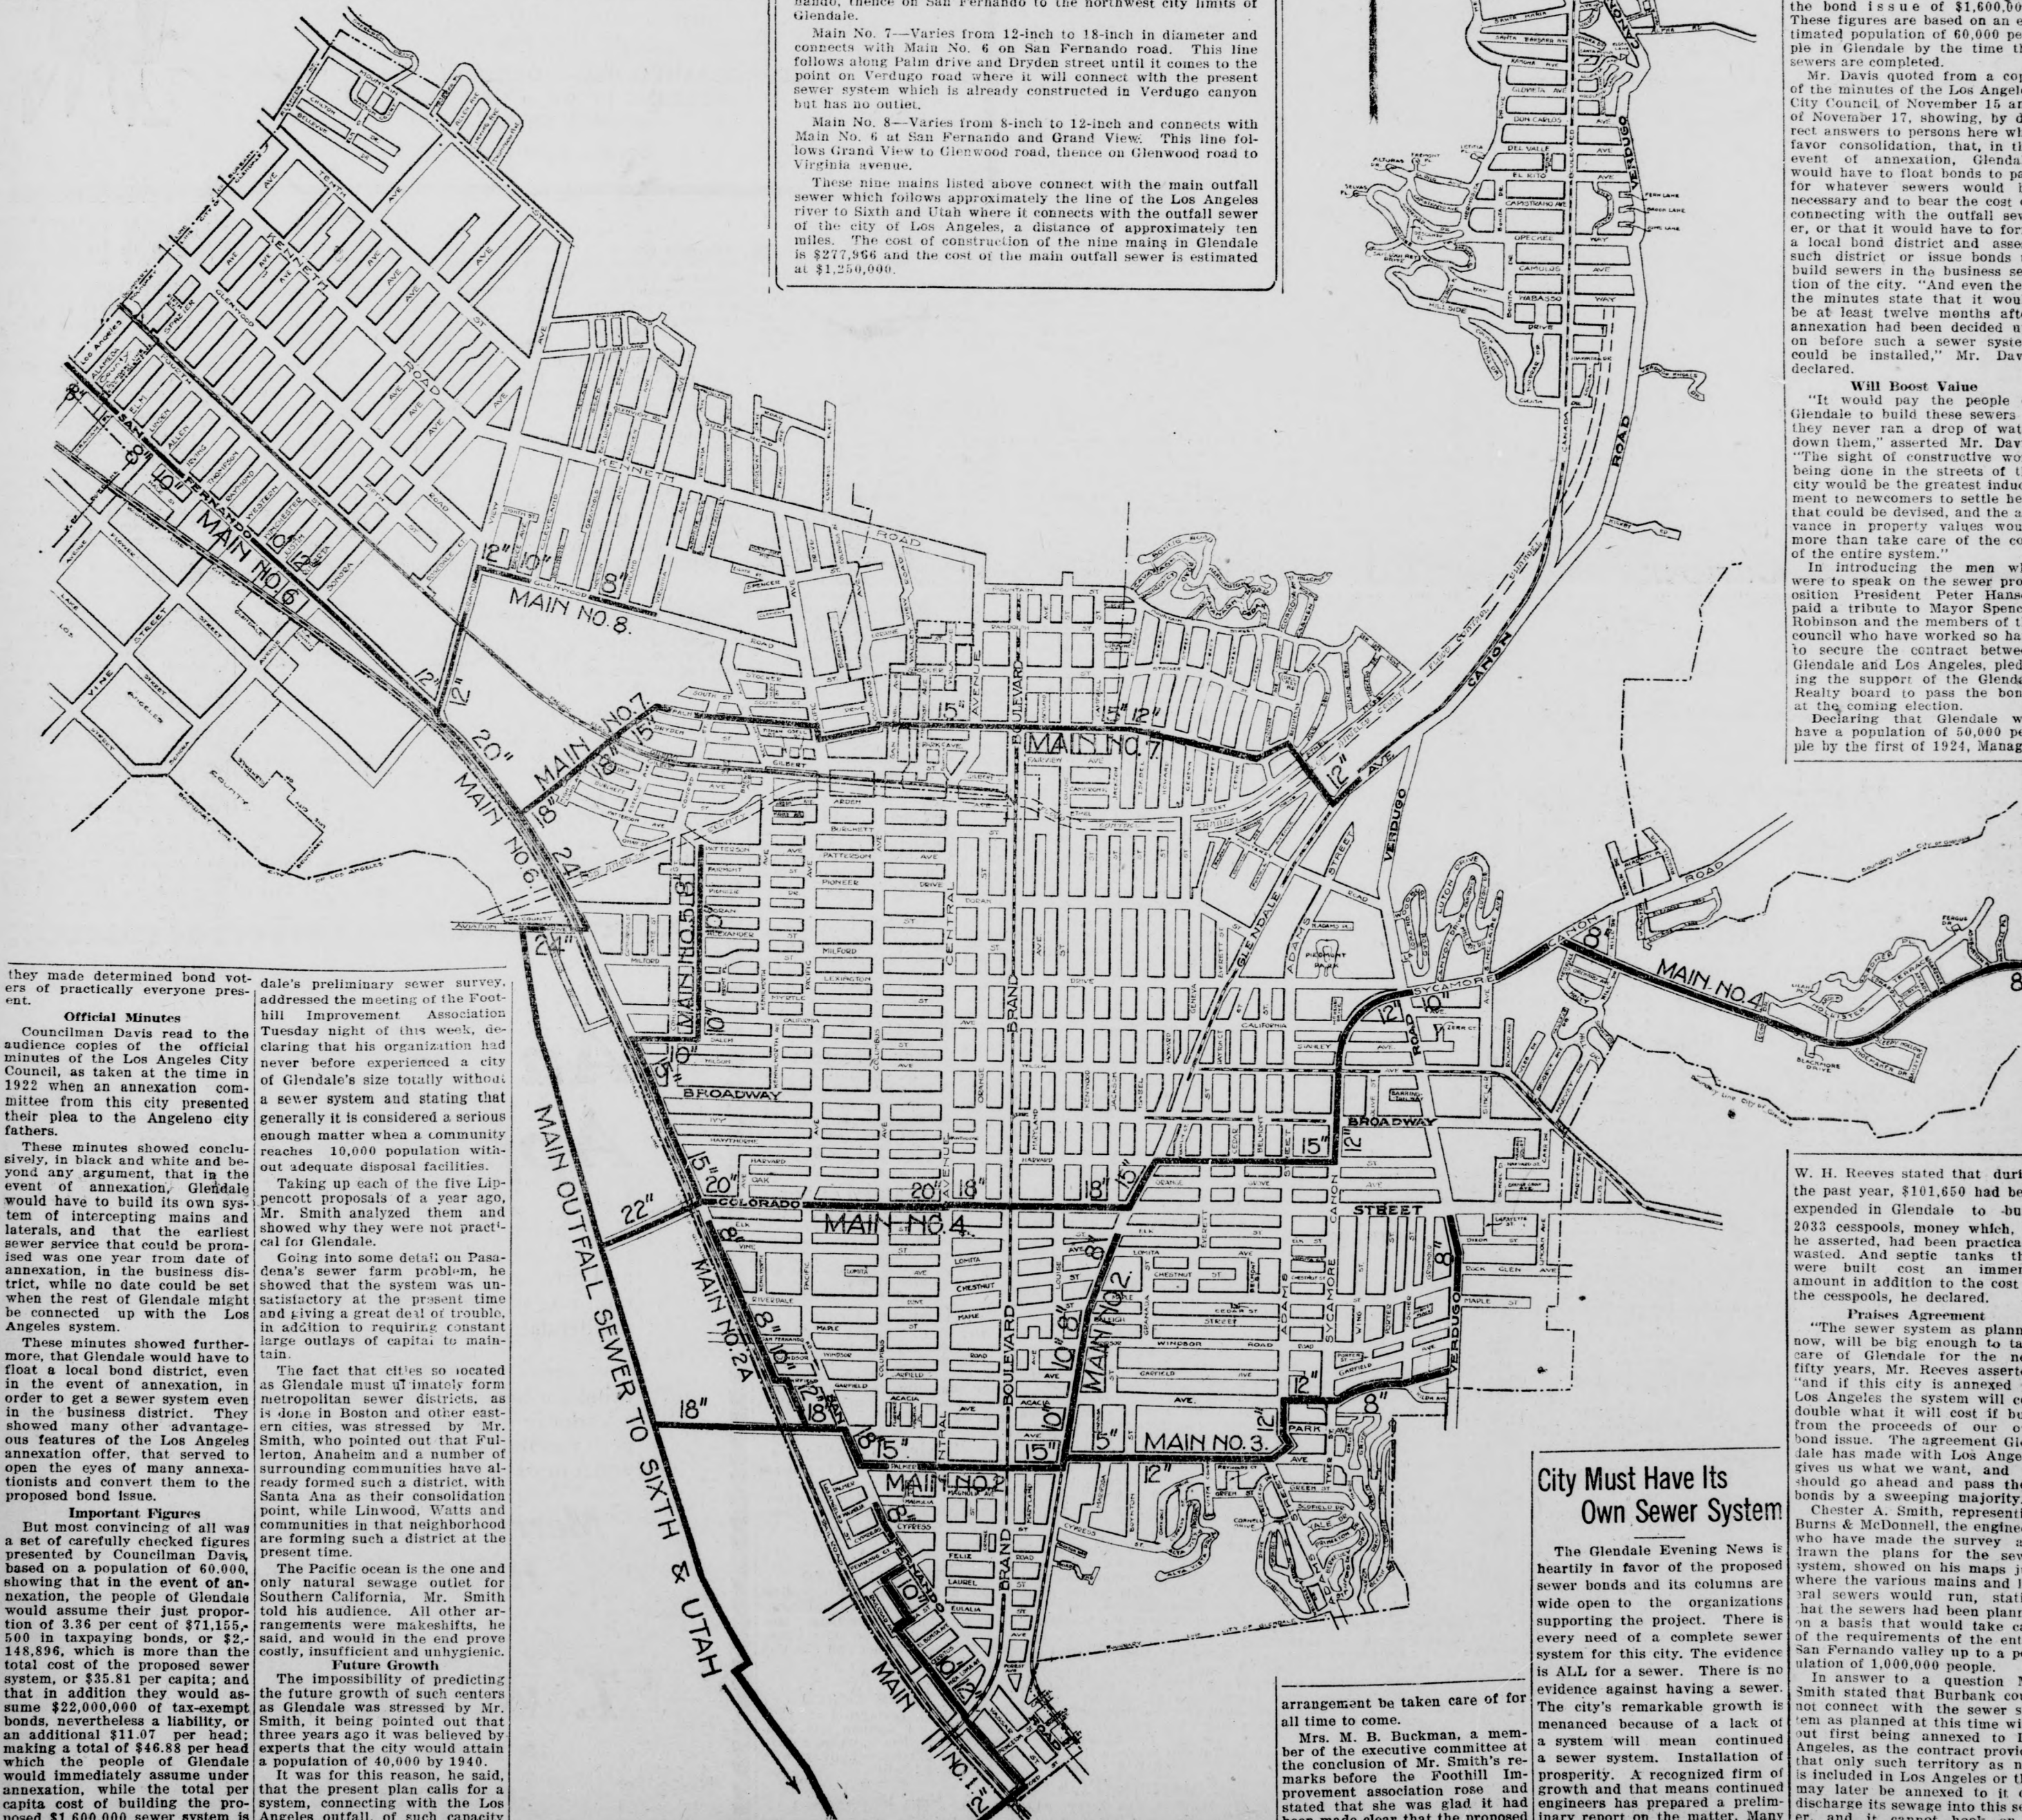

In answer to a question Mr. Smith stated that Burbank could not connect with the sewer system as planned at this time with Los Angeles, as the contract provides that only such territory as is included in Los Angeles or that may later be annexed to it can discharge its sewage into this sewer, and it cannot hook on to Glendale's sewer without paying for the privilege and in the event of its annexation to Los Angeles, also paying its share of the cost of the sewer connection through Los Angeles to the ocean.

City Must Have Its Own Sewer System

The Glendale Evening News is heartily in favor of the proposed sewer bonds and its columns are wide open to the organizations supporting the project. There is every need of a complete sewer system for this city. The evidence is ALL for a sewer. There is no evidence against having a sewer. The city's remarkable growth is menaced because of a lack of a system will mean continued poverty. A recognized firm of growth and that means continued engineers has prepared a preliminary report on the matter. Many columns are being printed concerning the project. The election will be held on January 8, 1924. Let's tell the world Glendale is unanimous for a complete sewer system.

arrangement be taken care of for all time to come.

Mrs. M. B. Buckman, a member of the executive committee at the conclusion of Mr. Smith's remarks before the Foothill Improvement Association rose and stated that she was glad it had been made clear that the proposed bond issue provided for carrying the sewer from Aviation drive north along San Fernando road to the Burbank city line, as many residents of the northwest section of Glendale had been laboring under the impression they were to have no sewer.

they made determined bond voters of practically everyone present.

Official Minutes

Councilman Davis read to the audience copies of the official minutes of the Los Angeles City Council, as taken at the time in 1922 when an annexation committee from this city presented their plea to the Angeleno city fathers.

These minutes showed conclusively, in black and white and beyond any argument, that in the event of annexation, Glendale would have to build its own system of intercepting mains and laterals, and that the earliest sewer service that could be promised was one year from date of annexation, in the business district, while no date could be set when the rest of Glendale might be connected up with the Los Angeles system.

These minutes showed furthermore, that Glendale would have to float a local bond district, even in the event of annexation, in order to get a sewer system even in the business district. They showed many other advantageous features of the Los Angeles annexation offer, that served to open the eyes of many annexationists and convert them to the proposed bond issue.

Important Figures

But most convincing of all was a set of carefully checked figures presented by Councilman Davis, based on a population of 60,000, showing that in the event of annexation, the people of Glendale would assume their just proportion of 3.36 per cent of $71,155,500 in taxpaying bonds, or $2,148,896, which is more than the total cost of the proposed sewer system, or $35.81 per capita; and that in addition they would assume $22,000,000 of tax-exempt bonds, nevertheless a liability, or an additional $11.07 per head; making a total of $46.88 per head which the people of Glendale would immediately assume under annexation, while the total per capita cost of building the proposed $1,600,000 sewer system is only $26.67 per head.

These figures proved to be compelling, and upon conclusion of Councilman Davis' remarks many who had been more or less annexationist in tendency saw that by going in with Los Angeles they would be shouldering a heavy

000 in bonds will be the only bond issue in connection with the sewer, Mr. Smith stated. It will cover the construction of the entire system, with the exception of the laterals, which will be constructed under the assessment district plan, at a nominal cost. With a flow provided of sixty gallons per capita per day, on a basis of 1,000,000 population ultimately utilizing this system, it is estimated by Mr. Smith that the sewage of Glendale and all surrounding communities will by this

TUJUNGA

GOOD CHEER FOR FOOTHILL TOWNS

Many Organizations Work to Spread Atmosphere of Christmas Around

This year promises to be a Christmas of more than usual gladness and good cheer in Tujunga, and the neighboring Verdugo hills communities. With the exception of a few days of wind, the weather has been very mild and sunny, with only two short showers of light rain. More complete preparations were made this year by church and other organizations to spread Christmas cheer throughout the community. For several weeks, different organizations, including the Parent-Teacher Association and Community church of Tujunga, have been busy preparing baskets to be distributed among the needy and gifts for the children. Sales of merchandise in stores in all localities in the Verdugo hills, indicate that this season will be filled to overflowing with the results of a prosperous year.

A special sermon was delivered by Dr. J. U. Stotts of the Tujunga Community church, on the subject "White Christmas," which is being observed this year by the church societies in making gifts. A number of Christmas selections were rendered with piano and violin accompaniments. A song service was conducted by the choir. A special Christmas program was given by the Christian Endeavor society. On Sunday, December 30, there will be communion service and reception to new members of the church.

Wedding Showers
In anticipation of the wedding of the Community church pastor, Dr. J. U. Stotts and Miss Bates, several showers have been given the prospective bride by the different church organizations. The young ladies of Miss Bates' Sunday school class recently surprised her with a shower of gifts at the home of Miss Rose Avery, 124 North Sunset boulevard. The church choir also gave a shower for her. The wedding will take place New Year morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. I. H. Farr will officiate. The pastor and his bride will leave immediately after the ceremony for a two weeks' trip to Santa Cruz and other points.

The Sunday school of the Community church dispensed gifts at the church for both little and big children, carrying out the "white Christmas" idea that originated many years ago and has become a world-wide movement in America, Japan, China and Europe. Older people gave articles for filling the many baskets distributed by the church. Mrs. J. A. Jenkins was chairman of the committee on gifts for children. Albert Wells had charge of the decoration of the tree. Miss Bates and Mrs. Jenkins directed the distribution of baskets. Singing of old hymns was a feature of the program.

At the last meeting of the Christian Endeavor society officers were elected for the coming year as follows: president, Miss Marzelle Greer; vice-president, Miss Bertha May Johnson; secretary, Miss Harriet Farr; treasurer, Miss Adelaide Gibson. Chairmen of committees were also named, being: prayer meeting, Howard Rich; socials, Caryl White; missionary, Oregon Bragg.

Barbecue Planned
A barbecue is being planned by the society for Saturday evening, December 29, to be given in Tujunga canyon. The community is to be invited to this picnic. Howard Rich is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Ellis Paul of Tujunga has been entertaining Miss Marie Engel of New York. Miss Engel has an engagement with the Lasky studios as designer. Mrs. Paul is also a designer of costumes and has just recently returned from New York, where she and Miss Engel designed costumes for the Greenwich Village Follies.

Mrs. C. B. Wade recently entertained as her guests, John Lathrop and Mrs. Lathrop, Mrs. Oliver P. Morton, and Miss Morton.

Mrs. Lubrecht, mother of Mrs. John Steven McGroarty, has been at the Tujunga Sanitarium recovering from the effects of a nervous shock caused by the recent burning of the McGroarty home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Warner have taken the Potwine cottage on North Sunset boulevard. They were recently living in Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Al. Sollerander entertained Mr. and Mrs. Everett McLaughlin as their guests on Sunday.

Vets Meet Payments Advanced by State

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 25.—Ninety-eight per cent of the world war veterans who have been given state financial assistance under the Farm and Home Purchase act, have met their payments when due, said George Stout, secretary of the State Veterans Welfare board today.

In excess of $1,800,000 has been loaned on farm and home investments made by veterans. Of this sum but $1,000 is in arrears. Former soldiers who were awarded farms uniformly have realized a good income during the year, Stout said.

Of the veterans given educational aid, ninety per cent have graduated.

CHRISTMAS GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walton, 517 North Kenwood street, will entertain today at Christmas dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Michael and their two children, of La Verne.

COMMENT That's All

Merry Christmas, Folks
All Year Goodness
Give a Smile At Least
Mill Fire Protection

By Gil A. Cowan

Merry Christmas—that's our wish to each and every one of you. And such a splendid Christmas day as it is here in Southern California there is no reason why any of us should not actually feel the predominant spirit of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men."

Yes, California is Christmas-land. Its sunshine, flowers, fruits and prosperity all combine to make it the one place in the world where happiness and contentment should be found by young and old alike.

It is a joy to sing psalms of praise here. The carols echo in the hills and all over there is joy of living that impresses one more and more as the years roll by.

The Christmas spirit, however, should not be evidenced only one week in the year. It should be a permanent part of Southern California character.

We should give gladly—whatever we give. And we should devote a goodly share of our time to making this old world a better place in which to live.

It is not necessary for Americans to engage in an Eskimo pot-latch—a giving away party where, in practically all of one's earthly possessions are peddled—but it is desirable that they carefully consider the welfare of their fellow man.

Locally, Dr. Henry R. Harrower is a good example of a man who believes in making his worldly wealth accomplish something more than material things. He has established a foundation, just as Rockefeller and many men, not so rich, have done.

And, from such foundations funds may be drawn for worthy purposes. It is a kind of "community chest"—a silent partner, so to speak.

You know, folks, that if you only look around a bit you find hundreds of good people doing things that warm one's heart. We could point out a dozen different people in our immediate acquaintance who make this Christmas spirit stretch the whole year round.

All of which is commendable and may their Christmas be more the merrier. They are the joyful givers.

And there are others who come in that class although they possess less worldly goods from which to give. They are the ones who give a smile.

You might consider smiling as a subject for one of the good resolutions on New Year's.

Among other things, the editor of the Horn Leader of the Verdugo Hills, Wallace M. Morgan, says of recent brush fire experiences:

Experience teaches an expensive school, and when we learn something by experience at the cost of large expenditures of money or labor it is only the part of ordinary good sense to write it down where we can refer to it in the future. And so the Record-Ledger is writing down what seems to be the most important facts concerning protection from big brush fires of the present season—the one that started at Montrose and swept south to Glendale and Eagle Rock, and the one that started at Burbank and climbed over the ridge toward Tuna canyon.

Both fires, it seems to us, demonstrated the need of the following three things as the first and most important factors of safety:

A more complete system of fire breaks.

Capable direction and leadership of the fire-fighters.

An adequate and properly controlled means of informing the people when a real fire menace occurs.

General community education in the effectiveness of such simple equipment as shovels and hoes in stopping brush fires.

Following the Burbank fire announcement was made that the county forestry department plans during the coming year to complete the system of fire breaks in the Verdugo Hills begun two years ago. This intention ought to be reinforced by the active demand from every organization of citizens in the Verdugo Hills district that the whole hill district be checker-boarded with fire breaks.

The break along the top of the ridge above Burbank stopped last week's fire except at one or two points, but it would not have been so effective had the fire been advancing from the north with the strong wind behind it instead of creeping up from the south against the strong wind. There should be enough of these fire breaks, strategically placed, so that backfires could be safely started when the emergency demands.

An outstanding feature at both these fires was the vast amount of aimless scurrying back and forth by scores and hundreds of people who could have been organized into effective fire-fighting squads had there been some competent, general direction and a corps of squad leaders with authority to give orders and sufficient personal or official standing to secure obedience.

In each of these several communities there should be at least one person who is thoroughly familiar with the location of all fire breaks and trails in the hills and who can plan out a fight against a brush fire with the same teamwork and efficiency that is expected from a high school football squad.

AIRPLANES HELP PUEBLA'S CAPTURE

Victory of Federal Force Is Complete; Oregon to Assume Command

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 25.—Three bombing airplanes that attacked fortified rebels in Puebla before a grand assault was made by infantry contributed largely to the government's victory in Puebla, according to the war office. The federalists' victory was complete. The insurgents were demoralized by a rain of bombs from the sky.

As the federal infantry advanced the rebels rushed from their trenches, throwing away guns and ammunition. This was the first effective use that the government has made of its airplanes. President Oregon is preparing to leave soon for the state of Jalisco. He will take personal command of the federalists in that state. President Oregon said he was confident of success and will immediately open a vigorous offensive against General Estrada's rebel army in the region of Guadalajara.

GIVES EVIDENCE OF MURDER CASE

Bloodstained Cap Believed to Be Clew to Mystery Crime in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 25.—De-tailed to work out what may be another murder mystery, police are searching the vicinity of 1332 Bond street in the hope of discovering further clues to the identity of motorists who Sunday morning spirited away an injured dead man in their car, leaving a blood-stained cap behind.

Awakened by cries, swearing and evidence of a struggle, Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, who lives at the Bond street address, arose and, looking through a window of her home, saw two men lift a dark object which appeared to be a human form, throw it into an automobile and drive off.

She notified the police, a squad of officers hurried to the scene, and a search of the rear of the house revealed a blood-soaked cap, but no other clues.

Volstead Army In Southland Attempts to Bag More Holiday Offenders

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 25.—The dry forces of Southern California are repairing the weak spots in the net of law enforcement which they will fling out and around the various roadhouses and cabarets with a vim in an effort to bag offenders against the Volstead act. Headed by Divisional Prohibition Chief Emerson E. Hunt, assisted by Chief Enforcement Officer George Contreras of the district attorney's office, a general raid against all cabaret and roadhouse offenders has been planned.

The Vernon Country club, the Green Mill, the Gardens cafe and the Log Cabin were raided Sunday night. No arrests were made at the Green Mill. At the Log Cabin one man was taken into custody and several were arrested at the country club.

BIT OF BLUE LAW NOW WIPED OUT

Longer Dancing Hours Will Be Permitted in L. A. Council Decides

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 25.—The Los Angeles City Council yesterday afternoon wiped off the books a part of the city's most bitterly fought "blue law" and adopted an amendment to the dance hall ordinance which will permit dancing until 2 a. m. on all legal holidays. While this ordinance was unanimously adopted by the council, a second ordinance, which would permit dancing on all nights until 1 a. m., and grant the police commission the power to issue permits for dancing until even later hours, was urged before the city council by prominent business men and civic leaders. This measure was passed to the city welfare committee for a public hearing and recommendation.

Annapolis Grid Team Coming
To Battle with Washington
In New Year Game

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 25.—Members of the naval academy varsity eleven, who have been on a brief vacation, returned to the academy this morning and late this afternoon will indulge in their final practice, here, in preparation for the New Year's day game with the University of Washington at Pasadena, Cal. After the practice, the uniforms and equipment of the team will be packed, and everything made ready for the start to the coast, Christmas morning.

Alan Shapleigh, who hails from Vallejo, Cal., will be instructed with the bulk of the attack against Washington, it is understood. Two other Californians, Herbert R. Ballinger, of San Pedro and Albert Handly, of Los Angeles, will figure in the activities of the navy backfield.

War Secretary Sends Greetings to U. S. Army

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—In a message of holiday greeting to the army of the United States, Secretary of War Weeks said: "The holiday season brings increased appreciation of the blessings of peace and the unmolested enjoyment of self-government which are dependent on the nation's defense power. Each year that I pass in the war department makes me realize more and more how much you are entitled to the thanks of your country. I wish you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

SMOOTH WAY FOR

WILLS TO FIGHT

Muldoom's Removal as Boxing Czar May Facilitate Bout With Champ

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—Exhorters for the Dempsey-Wills bout are looking for immediate developments after January 1, when William Muldoom is due to pass away as nominal head of boxing in New York state. The Iron Duke they say is all over and done with. He is a Republican. In his place, one Edward Curry, Democrat, is about ready to function. Frank Dwyer, Republican, also will lose his official head in favor of an up-state Democrat, it is said.

The new members, teamed up with William McCormack, chairman of the license committee, will place the commission upon an all-Democratic basis. They also will obviate and make null Governor Smith's stock reply to all Dempsey-Wills inquiries, to-wit: That the New York state athletic commission was composed of men who were not of his appointment.

Quit Buck-Passing
The interference there was that the governor of New York could issue no instructions to men he had not appointed. We have heard better replies but none more merry.

It appears now, however, that the policy of buck-passing may have been abandoned for one more adequate and suitable to the times. Boxing is in rather poor health in New York just at present, what with bad decisions and the natural diffidence of champions to risk their titles.

Something has to be done to reinstate the game in popular favor and perhaps the appointment of an all-Democratic commission may be a conscious effort in this direction. Tammany hall wants boxing preserved and whatever Tammany wants, during a Democratic administration, it gets.

There is too much money involved to allow the sport to pass on into the limbo of forgotten pastimes.

Fair Play for Wills
Perhaps, also, a Dempsey-Wills bout has been deemed an excellent medium toward restoring public confidence in the game. It would be the most popular move the commission could make, not because white men wish to see Dempsey lose. They merely stand for fair play to all and it is notorious that Harry Wills has been given the garlie.

The present commission has been guilty of sidestepping, straight-arming, reversing the field and all the broken field tricks in dating the Wills issue. It has made a political weapon of a great sport. Only a return of the policy of sport for sport's sake will restore the game to its proper level.

OPEN GOLF MEET

IS TEXAS EVENT

Premier Pellet Maulers to Start in Search for
'Golden Grail'

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 25.—Golfing gents from all points of the compass will start on their search for the "Golden Grail" February 14, 15 and 16, when the Texas Open Golf Championship will be held at the largest golf offered in Goldom—gets underway.

The San Antonio purse is a little more than one-third of the entire prize money offered by the Winter golfing cities, there being approximately $17,000 in purses hung up, for which such stars as Hagen, Kirkwood, Sarazen, MacDonald, Barnes, Farrell and more than one hundred others may strive.

Word has been received here that there is a strong probability of Arthur Havers, the youthful British open champion, and James Ockenden, French open champion, who will be in this country at that time, competing in the Texas open championship.

Although the U. S. G. A. frowns upon giving large purses for a golf tournament, San Antonio is trudging right along making history for the golfers. The first Texas open championship in 1922 was won by Benny Bob MacDonald, the now long Scot from Chicago, who now holds the metropolitan title.

Won First Prize
Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood were in the midst of their California tour last February. They came here and were well repaid for their trip, because Hagen won the $1,500 first prize in an eighteen-hole play-off with Bill Melhorn, and Kirkwood took down fourth money, $400.

It is stated by those in charge of the tournament next February that the most scintillating field in the history of Winter tournaments will compete in most of the tournaments already arranged.

Following are the cities, dates and purses:

SCENIC ROAD IS GIFT TO GLENDALE

Glen Oaks Syndicate Makes Present; Plan Parade
In Celebration

Angeles. Laurel canyon and Montecito park are noted for beauty spots, but they cannot compare with Glen Oaks. There are acres and acres of massive oak and sycamore trees, with ferns and wild flowers growing in profusion. We have already sold a good portion of the ground, but decided to build this boulevard rather than wait for the sometimes tedious procedure of the law. The park, with tennis courts, community house, the water main and the boulevard will be presented to the city of Glendale without any strings attached, and will not cost the city one cent.

Spring Is Tapped
The Glen Oaks syndicate has 710 acres in the canyon. The city recently acquired a five-acre tract upon which to build a 5,000,000-gallon reservoir to supply the northeastern part of the city. Mr. Powers stated that by tunneling into the hill fifteen feet he tapped a spring that flowed 7500 gallons every twenty-four hours. The water was the finest in Southern California, and many of his friends in Los Angeles drink nothing else, making the trip to the park to get their regular supply.

Dick Sumner, engineer, of Los Angeles, who has been in charge of the preliminary survey, states that this new boulevard will have the best grade of any road leading to Pasadena, and will solve the traffic situation. The right of way will follow the south side of the canyon the entire distance. A branch road connecting with the Annandale Country club will be built in the near future, he states. Glendale is presented with the fine Christmas gift largely through the efforts of Mayor

$10,000,000 GOAL DRAWING NEARER

$9,895,118 Figure Reached
By Permits Issued at City Department

Glendale residents may enjoy their Christmas turkey today with the knowledge that only a little over $100,000, or, to be exact, $104,882, in building permits remain to be issued before they cross the ten-million mark for the year. There are enough permits in sight to assure this, and H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent, is confident that the 1923 goal will be reached by Friday.

December's record is $672,959, and the grand total for the year is $9,895,118.

The following permits were issued yesterday:

A. Robinson, 1 room and garage, 2440 Glen Oaks	6,500

HOSTS AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Ollsher of 441 West Milford street are entertaining at Christmas dinner today, having as their guests Mr. and Mrs. E. Giltner of 326 West Elk street. A tiny Christmas tree formed a most attractive centerpiece for the table.

Spencer Robinson, City Manager, W. H. Reeves and V. B. Stone, assistant city engineer, who have favored the project from the start. The disintegrated rock from the cuts will make a fine base for the road, which will be one of the scenic drives of Glendale when completed.

Youth Is Victim of Automobile Accident

George Mowery, 801 East Colorado street, was run over by a car driven by C. E. Chamberlain, 823 Glen View road, on Brand boulevard between Wilson avenue and Broadway yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

According to the report to the police, the boy started to cross the street and did not see Chamberlain's car approaching. He was taken to a physician's office where his injuries, which were of a minor character, received medical attention. He was later able to proceed to his home.

Contract for Lumber Costs Over $2,000,000

REDDING, Dec. 25.—One of the biggest contracts ever made in California was filed for record today, in which the Red River Lumber company agrees to sell to the McCloud Lumber company all the pine timber standing on 86,733 acres of land in Siskiyou and Shasta counties, or nearly 140 square miles.

HOLIDAY MESSAGE FROM MINISTERS

Rev. J. C. Livingston, Head of Local Association, Issues Statement

It has never been the custom of the Ministerial Union of Glendale to hold union services on Christmas. Each denomination has been left free to celebrate the occasion as it sees fit. In practically all the exercises appropriate to the occasion, the churches and Sunday schools are the moving factors, and in addition to the community celebration at the high school grounds many of the churches were the scene, last night, or on previous nights, of brilliant holiday exercises, of which the Christmas tree played an important part.

Christmas Message
The following Christmas message was issued by Rev. J. C. Livingston, pastor of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church, and president of the Glendale Ministerial association:

"Even as with wreaths of holly we garland things, so also do we bring the gold and frankincense, and myrrh of our devotion, to garnish the hours of this Merry, Merry Christmas time.

"What a wonderful event we celebrate. The very angels, as they sang, must have trembled that God would dare to hang so great potentiality upon anything so beautiful, and so frail, as a little baby. But, you see, that is God's way of doing great things. This very Son of God, when he would open windows that we might the better see—and hear—divine light, seemed always to embody that which was to be the very greatest, in characters that at the first seemed so very small.

"To him the greatest faith was as a grain of mustard seed. The greatest providence had to do with insignificant sparrows. The greatest aims—a widow's mite, and the greatest benefaction had to do with some little loaves, and fishes, in the lunch basket of a curious lad.

Great Personality
"Nobody knew, as God knew, that from that obscure cradle where lullabies blended with the moaning of the cattle, and the bleating of the sheep, there would come on through the years a personality so obtrusive as to divide time in his name, and make his name an absolute necessity to the legality of all commercial and judicial activity. A personality so commanding as to drive the Caesars from the throne and build in place of them a civilization in modern history; art, music, literature and language of which his name would rank pre-eminent. Surely we do well to honor him, the Christ, the Son of the Living God—Our Saviour."

GIANT DIRIGIBLE WEATHERS STORM

Pride of French Air Fleet Sighted at Point on Coast of Africa

giant airship from her course and kept her aloft since Tuesday are the most severe in years.

Many fishing vessels have been tossed ashore, and it is feared more than 200 persons have been drowned.

One hundred and sixty-eight persons, crews of fishing and other vessels, are missing from Barcelona alone.

Fuel Exhausted
With fuel exhausted and its crew, many of whom are ill, subsisting on crumbs of rations, the former German airship, handed over since the war, has been hovering helplessly over the Gulf of Gabes.

The Dixmude flew from Toulon, France, on a sixty-hour cruise of the northern coast of Africa, last Tuesday. For two days it went well. Then winter gales, roaring from the northwest, whirled the dirigible from its course.

The pride of France's air navy, with many records for speed and endurance, the graceful Dixmude was helpless in the grip of the tempest. Her propellers that could drive her seventy miles an hour whirled impotently as the gales drove the airship eastward towards the open sea.

To Bomb New York
MITCHELL FIELD, New York, Dec. 25.—The French dirigible Dixmude, reported lost and perhaps disabled over the North Africa coast, was built by Germany during the war to bomb New York, according to Major William N. Hensley, commander of the air station here. The ship was not completed when the armistice was signed. Major Hensley intimated he got his information about the plans for the Dixmude as a member of the American military mission to Germany in 1919. According to United States army officers, the Dixmude, as the German Zeppelin L-72, was offered as a gift to the United States army in May, 1919, by the Zeppelin company. The only condition was that the American government should intern the crew which would have flown it to the United States. The company explained that they would be required to deliver the airship to the allies in any case, and that they preferred to have it in American hands, because if it proved satisfactory they expected orders for other airships.

Expect Two Hundred Babies on Christmas

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 25.—Two hundred of the world's greatest Christmas gifts are due to arrive Christmas day, according to L. B. Ross, head of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, who calculates that babies to that number will appear in California homes among lesser gifts.

"The law of average is as immutable as the law of the Modes and Persians," said the statistician. "Exact calculation provides for the arrival of 216 babies. Further investigation based on past records, indicates that this total will be divided between 110 boys and 106 girls."

Chicago Guests Add To Christmas Cheer

Christmas is being celebrated at the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Dowd of 1744 Kenmore road with a bounteous Christmas dinner. They are unusually happy over the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Watkins and son Jack of Chicago, Ill., who recently arrived here and will spend several days here. Dr. Watkins is a prominent physician of Chicago. Other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hubbard, also of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Gaines of Los Angeles.

State's Cotton Crop Yields 135,000 Bales

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 25.—From 233,000 acres planted to cotton, Dec. 25.—The French dirigible Dixmude, reported lost and perhaps disabled over the North Africa coast, was built by Germany during the war to bomb New York, according to Major William N. Hensley, commander of the air station here. The ship was not completed when the armistice was signed. EXPLAINS PLANS FOR MUSIC CLUB

Mrs. M. B. Jones Thanks
Those Who Aided Plans
Of Organization

A Christmas greeting from the Glendale Music club is most fitting today, for this organization has featured during the past few weeks the slogan, "Merry Christmas—Say It With Music."

The greeting reads: "The Glendale Music club extends hearty Christmas greetings to all musicians, music lovers, business men and women of the community and most sincere thanks to all who have given of their time, strength and means to assist in carrying out the purpose for which the club is organized: to foster and promote good music in the community."

"The fact that the club has sold for the season the entire seating capacity of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse auditorium for our artist series, save about 150 seats, which are being offered for the remainder of the year, January to June, at the price of $4 for five concerts, as a Christmas special, proves that the music club is a healthy growing Glendale institution."

Tells Club's Work
"Besides presenting this artist series of concerts, we have seven departments of work, the artists' section, teachers' round-table, composers' section, scholarship loan fund, educational department, junior auxiliary, juvenile auxiliary and last, but not least, the oratorio section under the direction of John Smallman."

"We say merry Christmas and best wishes for a happy, prosperous year. We also wish The Glendale Evening News a most prosperous year and express our sincere thanks for the courteous treatment extended to the club."

"Again let us remind the general public, 'Merry Christmas, Say It With Music,' buy a holiday membership season ticket and make it possible for 150 more people to hear Allen McQuahae, Irish tenor, in January."

"Yours for a greater musical Glendale,
MRS. MATTISON B. JONES,
"President."

Japs to Cancel All 1924 Land Contracts

LODI, Dec. 25.—Three hundred members of the Lodi-Woodbridge-Acampo Japanese association are preparing to cancel all 1924 contracts for land in accordance with the recent decision of the supreme court, it was said by Secretary S. Takahashi.

Heretofore Japanese have held leases on 2,500 acres of the best land in the district, which are automatically terminated by the court ruling.

Measures are being discussed to obtain Caucasian workers in place of the Japanese.

Reckless Motorists Get Maximum Fines

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 25.—Fines totaling $3500 were collected here recently in a single day, when 180 traffic violators paid that sum in to the city treasury.

The largest fine was given J. H. Reedy, who was offered the alternative of paying $300 or passing 150 days in jail on a charge of reckless driving.

C. Bertland received the lightest fine of the day. He paid $6 on admission that he was driving a machine without a tail light.

CLUB PRESIDENT GREETES MEMBERS

Mrs. E. S. Bacon Sends Season's Best Wishes for Xmas and New Year

Mrs. E. V. Bacon, president of the Thursday Afternoon club, in extending the season's greeting to the members and friends of the club, says:

"I wish for each and all and for their dear ones, a Merry Christmas and a Happy, prosperous New Year."

"The club has enlarged its scope of work, especially in philanthropic lines, and your president feels that even more than in the past, the club will be during the coming year, a factor in the community life, standing for high ideals and upholding standards which make for progress and advancement."

"The desire for peace for all nations is uppermost in all our hearts today, and I sincerely hope the coming year will see a great forward movement toward the realization of 'Peace on earth, good will to men.'"

BIRTH OF CHRIST WONDERFUL GIFT

Head of P.-T. A. Federation
Has Message of Cheer
For Her Associates

A Christmas greeting comes from Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the Glendale Parent-Teachers' Association Federation. She says:

"As Christmas draws near, let us as members of the P.-T. A. Federation stop and think what the real meaning of Christmas is, the birth of Christ, most wonderful gift ever given to a world."

"Let us go out and find some one who is less fortunate than ourselves and give them cheer. We can give a cheery smile, a hearty handshake and a loving heart. These mean much at this time of the year."

"If we are to have this peace, of which the angelic chorus sang, we must practice the same good will to our fellowmen as God shows to us. There is an advent for each of us."

"Peace on earth has always come to those who have peace within."

SANTA CLAUS IS AMERICAN IDEAL

Origin Goes Back to Grecian
Mythology; Gift Habit
Spread From U. S.

The idea and ideal of Santa Claus is much older than Christmas; in fact, it goes back to the age of the Greek Gods, but Santa Claus as we know him today is an American conception. It is from this country that the custom of giving presents on December 25 has spread until Christian and Pagan, Jew and Gentile, observe it as festive day by distributing gifts.

Apollo is given as the remotest ancestor of Santa Claus by Dr. Brandreth, a monarch of New York, who has made an exhaustive study of the Claus family tree.

Apollo survived as a festive patron saint even after the advent of Christianity in the course of time, says Dr. Symonds. Apollo became St. Nicholas. The name is Greek—Nikolaos—and means "he who wins victory for the people." He was said to have been born in Patara. The time of his reputed birth was some 2000 years after the Dorian Greeks had carried the old Apollo to the Lybian coast. St. Nicholas was said to have been the first archbishop of Myra, a town some five or six miles from Patara, and also to have been present at the general council which was convened by Constantine at Nicea in 325 A. D. There are extant lists of the members of that general council, and none of them mentions St. Nicholas as among those present. Our first definite knowledge of St. Nicholas is about 200 years later, when the Emperor Justinian built a church in Constantinople which he dedicated to St. Priscus and St. Nicholas.

Most Popular Saint
From the time when we first got definite sight of him, down to the present day, St. Nicholas has had two festivals: one on December 6, the other on May 9, the day of the Thargelia, the great festival of Apollo. Like the old pagan god, St. Nicholas has always been a most benign saint, patron of mariners, travelers, children and virgins. And also like Apollo, he acquired a wide popularity. Dr. Symonds says that up to two centuries ago, perhaps even later, St. Nicholas was the most popular saint in Christendom. He was beloved in the Roman, the Greek and the Protestant churches. Santa Claus was a popular nickname in the Low Countries; Nicholas, often being abbreviated to Claus, and Santa, the monkish or corrupt Latin for Saint.

When the split came between the Eastern and the Western churches, the Russian branch of the Eastern church clung to May 9 as well as December 6 as the festival day of St. Nicholas and it was so celebrated throughout Russia until the Bolshevik government put an end to the celebration of saints' days.

The Western church accepted December 6 as the festival day of St. Nicholas. As far back as six or seven hundred years ago it had already become the custom for the children to hang up their stockings or shoes on the night of December 5, and in the morning to find them filled with candy and toys which had been placed there by the good St. Nicholas, their patron saint. Naughty children sometimes found a birch rod in their stockings instead of the candy and toys.

Change Made Here
Prior to two hundred years ago St. Nicholas day was of much importance, for it marked the commencement of the Yuletide festivities. Bishops, Lords of Misrule, Abbots of Unreason, were chosen on that day and served until Christmas, or even to Twelfth Night, which coincided with the Festival of the Epiphany on January 6.

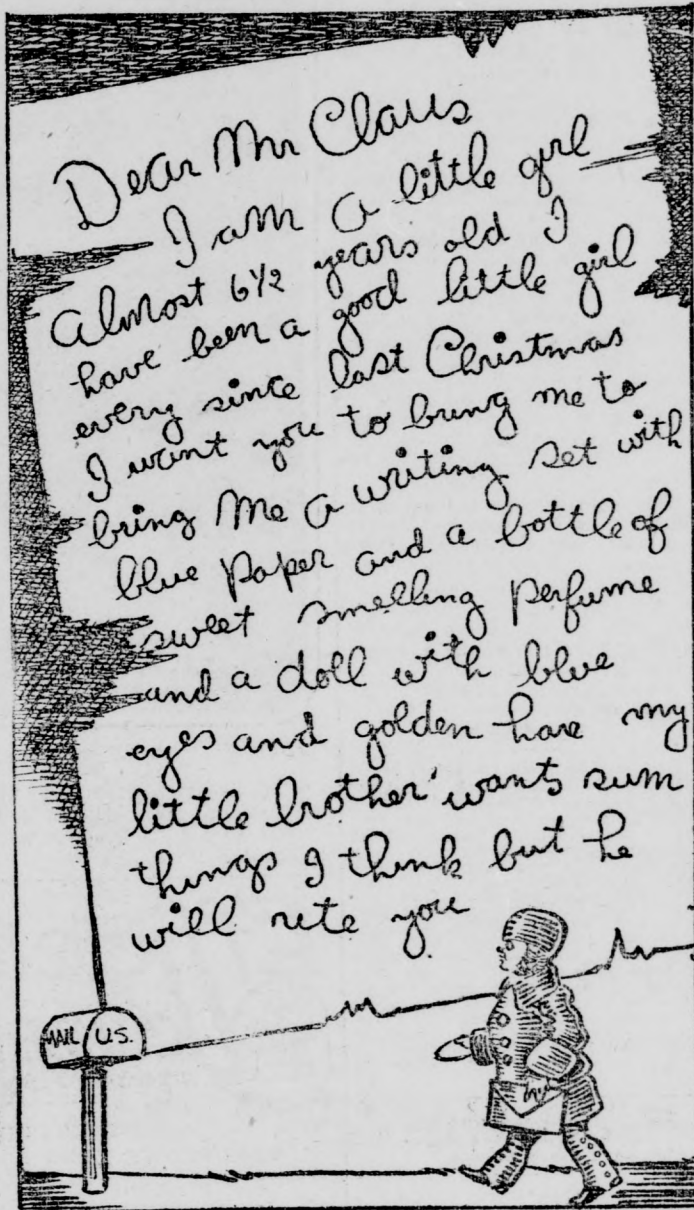

On Christmas day the waits sang carols or acted little plays, and were paid by money and beer and skittles. Every one ate hugely and drank freely. But there was no giving of presents.

Throughout all Europe there was just one exception. In Germany, in some parts of the Rhineland, following a custom that dated back to the most ancient days, on Christmas eve the Teutonic pine tree was lighted and a person in disguise gave the children toys from it. Though this had continued for centuries, the custom remained purely local. It probably spread to this country through the Germans who settled in the thirteen colonies.

When the Rev. Clement Clarke Moore, son of the third Bishop of New York, in 1823 wrote his famous poem, "The Night Before Christmas," the celebration of December 25 had already absorbed the gift-giving festivities of December 6. Dr. Symonds thinks that the change in the calendar may also have been a contributing cause. Pope Gregory XIII put the present system into effect in 1582.

Christmas day is the one day in the year when we are licensed to be as spontaneous, as impulsive and as unconventional as we please. It is the day when elderly people as well as young may go to the phone and call up their friends for the sole purpose of saying a jolly "Merry Christmas!"

We have no age on Christmas day; we are all happy children, alike, grouped together to celebrate this merry holiday with its deeper meaning. That generous, peace-on-earth-good-will feeling which we commonly call "Christmas Spirit," sweeps us off our feet emotionally and puts us all on the same plane.

I know a white-haired grandfather, a most dignified man in everyday life, who, on Christmas morning, dons a colored paper cap and enters into a day-long romp with his grandchildren. That is you will find a difference in your weight after a few weeks.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I am a young man, 23 years old. I have been keeping company with a girl who is 21 for three years. I have loved this girl ever since I first saw her, and that love has grown stronger each day since that time. She is the nearest to my ideal of any girl I ever knew, and I have gone with a great many girls, especially during my school days. I have found her to be a perfect lady, and I know she is the one I want to be my wife.

My parents died when I was very young, and although I have an estate and all I need in a financial way, I have never had a real home. My idea of a real home is more than the mere earthly goods my money can buy. I want love, true love. I want children, not too many, but not an only child, for I am an unhappy only child.

This girl and I have been engaged for several months, but I cannot feel like setting a date for our marriage, as we have talked of doing, until she has changed her mind and her heart on one thing. She says she does not want to have any children. This has caused me much thought. I cannot find any reason for her feeling this way except the fear which a great many women have.

I have been unable to find a way to help her overcome that fear. Please give me your advice, LITTLE FRIEND.

The girl you love has a selfish side to her nature or she would be willing to have children because they mean so much to you. Some girls of today think it is smart to have an aversion to children. They want their lives to be devoted to an uninterrupted pursuit of the intellectual.

With your ideals, it seems to me it would be a pity to marry a girl who does not share your desires in life. I would advise you to postpone your marriage for the time being. It may be that in a year or two time will straighten out your tangle and, if the girl does not change in her feeling toward children, you may be shown that your love for her was, after all, superficial, and that some one else represents the perfect woman.

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I am a young girl and am keeping company with a boy a few years my senior. I love him dearly, but I am not sure that my love is returned, as he goes with other girls and, when with them, does not pay much attention to me. I also go with other boys, but I cannot get him from my mind. Do you think that he loves me? How can I hold his love? BLUE EYES.

It is only natural that the young man should not pay attention to you when he is in the company of some other girl. Of course, I do not know the extent of his regard for you. I do not believe, however, that his caring reaches the point of love, since he also enjoys the company of others. Love cannot be forced. Try to be satisfied with friendship and give up the idea of "holding his love."

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I would like to know how a box should be fixed and what should be in it for a box social. Who holds the box when eating, the man or the lady? TWO GREENIES.

The box should be clean and dainty to be tempting. The contents should consist of sandwiches, pickles or olives, hard-boiled eggs, salt, cake or cookies, and fruit. Of course there should be enough for two.

While eating, the box is placed on the table, grass or wherever the party is eating. The woman plays hostess and sees that the man has enough to eat.

Greetings--

To our host of friends who have so liberally patronized our studio during the past year, we thus extend our thanks, and sincerely wish you the happiest of Christmases.

Belief of Wilhelm's Boyhood Playmate; Says Country Needs Monarchy

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 25.—Germany wants the kaiser back. Return of the monarchy is the only solution of the German problem.

That is the opinion voiced by August Stettin, of this city, boyhood playmate of William II, and student of European politics.

"Germany wants Hohenzollern rule again, and the kaiser never was one to give up easily," said Stettin. "If you could have seen the kaiser play as a boy as I did, if you could have known his father and grandfather as I did, you would appreciate the practical certainty of an eventual return of Hohenzollern monarchy in Germany."

Stettin makes these predictions: Germany, now in a pitiful state of disruption caused by clash of antagonistic groups, is turning back to autocracy as the only means to bring the country back to a social, political and economic normalcy.

The Hohenzollerns would have been restored to power months ago had Germany not feared interference by other powers, particularly France.

The mark, when monarchical control replaces the governmental hysteria that is Germany's "curse" today, eventually will get back somewhere near normal.

Even in his childhood the former kaiser displayed the determination that marked his character later in life, Stettin said.

"If he thinks Germany needs him, and I guess the majority opinion today is that Germany needs something, the kaiser will not give up his intention of returning," he remarked.

Always Democratic
Stettin recited numerous instances of the generosity and democracy of the first Kaiser Wilhelm and his son Frederick.

"The Hohenzollerns were always democratic and most generous to the poor," he said. Asked whether Wilhelm II, had not swerved from his ancestors' philanthropic and democratic footsteps, Stettin replied he had not declared the kaiser who led Germany into the World War was just as kindly personally and just as generous as his father and grandfather.

"Democracy as we know it here in this country or republic is not for Germany. Germany has not been educated to the idea of give and take, of conciliation among its many political groups," he said.

Paternalistic government, Stettin suggested, is what Germany needs, and it can only be given, he added, by autocracy.

The Hohenzollern "menace" to Germany isn't a menace at all, in Stettin's opinion; it is a blessing. Germany never will regain its political and economic feet until a monarchical government, preferably under the former kaiser, who "knows Germany and Germany's needs," replaces the republican ministry that is trying to direct Germany now. That's Stettin's firm belief.

'REDUCE ARMS OR BUILD AIRSHIPS'

Senator Warns Congress That America's Supremacy Is Challenged

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—A challenge to congress either to recommend a world conference for the limitation of aerial armaments or to authorize immediately the strongest air armada in history was offered yesterday by Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts.

Walsh's statement was prompted by recent activities of France and Italy toward increasing their air forces. It also followed a White House conference between President Coolidge and the Duke of Sutherland, air minister for Great Britain, at which the limitation of air armaments was discussed.

Need Air Armada
"Congress should either get behind a conference to limit aircraft, or else appropriate as much money as is necessary—hundreds of millions even—to develop a fighting air armada second to none in the world," said Walsh.

America's air future appears hopeless, Walsh warned, unless the present policy is changed.

"Unless an air conference is called, congress should make our aerial defenses second to none in the world," Walsh said. "Such a policy would be a powerful notice to the world that, unless all nations disarm, the United States will take its rightful place with war forces of the world. I believe, too, that such a notice would make some of the militaristic nations for economy's sake limit aircraft. Such was the case, at least, when we built up our naval defenses."

Sees Danger to U. S.
The alternate to such a course, Walsh said, would spell danger for American interests.

"If present conditions continue—namely, a steady improvement of their air forces by other nations, and a steady regretful deterioration of our air development, we must be prepared to confess to the world our incompetency with other nations in time of war."

A business of importance in Manchuria and Mongolia is the trading in dog skins.

INTEREST SHOWN IN HOME DESIGN

Awards Go to Architects of California for Plans in Recent Contest

No competition in recent years has aroused as much interest among architects and home designers as the small brick house designing contest which has just been brought to a close under the joint auspices of the California chapters of the American Institute of Architects and the California Common Brick Manufacturers association.

In the decision of the judges just announced, the winners of the thousand dollars in prizes are all from California, although designs were submitted by over one hundred architects and draftsmen from four states.

The following awards have just been announced by Architect Harwood Hewitt of the Los Angeles chapter of the institute who conducted the competition as professional adviser: first prize, $400 to Harrison Clarke; second, $200 to A. McD. McSweeney; third, $100 to W. F. Mullay, all of Los Angeles; $50 each in the following order to L. Riggs, Santa Barbara; C. W. Lemmon, J. E. Stanton, W. G. Byrne, L. F. Fuller and C. E. Perry, all of Los Angeles. The judges awarded a special mention to A. McD. McSweeney, winner of the second prize, who submitted a second design which was only prevented from securing the fifth prize by a rule making it impossible to award two prizes to one individual.

Special Mention
The judges, Sumner Spaulding, Pierpont Davis and Elmer Grey, prominent California architects, designated the following entrants as meriting particular mention: C. R. Spencer, C. A. Perryman, W. K. Graveley, J. D. Tuttle, R. A. Lockwood, L. F. Sherwood and J. D. Winn, all of Los Angeles and W. L. Moody of Santa Monica.

By the terms of the competition the designs submitted called for brick houses costing no more than $7500. Some of the most interesting exhibits involve an expenditure considerably under the amount.

The increasing vogue for brick homes is evidenced by the wide popularity of the competition and the excellence and variety of the ideas submitted. The competition has disclosed such a wealth of useful designs and new small house possibilities that plans are now being made to make much of this material available to the public.

BOOZE SNIFFING

JOB IS REFUSED

Proposal of Dry Officers to Use Gas Meter Men as Spies Ignored

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 25.—Schemes of prohibition authorities in this state to learn the innermost secrets of that innermost part of the average citizen's home—the cellar—have occasioned a sensation here in their latest aspect.

How far these projects have been carried became known in startling fashion when the United Gas Improvement company made public a letter in which it refused to have its gas meter inspectors act as spies in behalf of the prohibition forces here.

The letter revealed that a proposal had been made to the company by dry enforcement officials that gas meter men, in addition to their routine duties of compiling the little figures for the monthly bills, should also cast a wayward eye over the contents of all cellars, particularly noting any anti-Volstead manifestations such as private stocks, stills or home brew paraphernalia. It was suggested that such things might be discreetly reported to prohibition headquarters by the gas company.

A sigh of relief went up from many a home when it became known that the gas company had answered the request in the emphatic negative. But now John Citizen, as lying away a party to the south, realizing that water-meter men also visit his cellar, and that as they are municipal employees they may be morally bound to aid "law enforcement."

TESTS FOR DRUNKENNESS

A police surgeon, who is often called in to pronounce motorists, arrested for reckless driving, either drunk or sober, has devised the following seven tests: 1, telling the correct name and address; 2, walking a line; 3, touching a spot on the wall; 4, touching the nose with the left hand and then the right; 5, touching the nose with the eyes closed; 6, saying "rural" and picking up a pin. If the one suspected can do all of these things, he is a safe prospect to be pronounced sober.

AUSTRALIA TO SHAKE

According to Prof. Sir Tannatt William David at the Pan Pacific Scientific Congress in Melbourne, Australia will in due time be included in the active volcano belt. Sir Tannatt was geologist with the British army on the western front during the war and was scientific observer with the Shackleton expedition to the Antarctic in 1907-8, leaving a party to the south magnetic pole in January of the last year of the expedition.

Just now the most compelling ad we know is the one in the street car boosting a brand of "snug winter underwear."

A cordial invitation is extended the public to visit the Little Church of the Flowers, which has been especially decorated for Christmas.

SOME DAY

—(perhaps fifty years hence), there may be need of another non-sectarian, perpetual care cemetery for Los Angeles County—operating in unity with the Mausoleum-Columbarium, Crematory and Receiving Vaults.

Some day Los Angeles County may claim another Memorial Park as lovely, as spacious, as carefully planned, as honestly managed as Beautiful Forest Lawn—"Among the Hills."

But we doubt if ever there will be a Garden of Remembrance so ideally located—so protected by its natural barrier of ever green hills, so gloriously wooded and so loved by thousands as

TODAY—Denver Sells "White Elephant"; Testing a New Explosive

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
For International News Service.

DENVER, Dec. 25.—Denver has finally disposed of her 122 automatic voting machines, which have lain idle and dust-covered for 16 years in the basement of a local municipal building.

The machines represented an original investment of $112,500. In addition, the city has spent considerable sums in litigation on them, first in an effort to put them into operation, and afterward in defending court action by manufacturers of the machines when the city refused to pay for them.

They have been sold for $3 apiece, a total of $366, to Robert Russell, after professional junk-dealers had offered a top price of $1.50 each.

Russell said he had no plans as yet as to what would be done with the machines, but indicated they would be dismantled and sold for junk.

The machines were purchased by the Denver Board of County Commissioners from the Federal Ballot Machine company, of Chicago, in 1907.

The Republican party was in control of city politics at that time, and the appearance of the mysterious looking contrivances brought a howl of protest from the Democrats, who charged that the Republicans were going to "frame" future elections with the aid of the machines. The Democrats declared that the ballotting devices could be manipulated and finally went into court and obtained an injunction restraining the city from using the machines.

Shortly afterward a taxpayer went into the courts and sought an injunction preventing the city from paying for the machines since they could not be used.

And then the Board of County commissioners themselves decided not to pay for the balloting machines.

The Federal Ballot Machine company transferred securities the city had put up, guaranteeing payment, to the Home Savings Bank of Detroit. The machine company and the bank followed this with a suit against Denver in an effort to force payment. Litigation on the matter was carried to the highest court in the land, which ruled that Denver would have to pay for the machines even though the city could make no use of them.

In the meantime the "white elephant" reposed in the basement of the county hospital, whence Russell hauled them out this week.

With a view to reducing the cost and danger of blasting, experiments in the use of liquid oxygen, a new explosive, are being continued by engineers of the Uni-

After a wave of English lecturers we are having a wave of English actresses. The latest to announce an American invasion is Lady Peel, wife of Sir Robert Peel, who is one of the principals in the "London Review of 1924" as well as being one of England's best known society women.

ated States Bureau of Mines here. The new explosive is reported to have been successfully used in Colorado by the Department of the Interior in experimental mine work at a cost of approximately one-half of the gelatin dynamite ordinarily employed for such work.

The first experiments in this state were conducted by E. D. Gardner, mining engineer of the Bureau of Mines, in co-operation with compressed air experts.

A liquid oxygen explosive consists of gas black, wood pulp, or some other carbonaceous material, made up into cartridges and soaked in liquid oxygen. The explosive can be detonated like ordinary dynamite, with cap and fuse, or with electric detonators.

The liquid oxygen was obtained from a plant designed to furnish oxygen gas, and was shipped to the point of use in dewar flasks, which are made on the same principle as thermos bottles.

Besides costing less, the liquid oxygen explosive is considered much safer to use than ordinary dynamite.

U. S. INDIANS SOON WILL BE READY TO TAKE PLACE AS CITIZENS, SAYS COMMISSIONER

That the Indians of the United States will become absolutely self-supporting, and thus be emancipated from government control within a few years, was the recent declaration of Charles H. Burke, commissioner of Indian affairs and formerly congressman from South Dakota.

He stated that the government has one great goal that it is striving to reach—that of making the Indian race self-supporting.

"I think," he said, "we have Indians in every profession, in every walk of life, in every activity, who are today making good. Right now there are 2,000 Indians in the Indian service, and we know they are making good. Others can, too. I am confident that, with proper training, the right environment, and plenty of education, the Indian can take his place in the world with other people, although there are those who speak to the contrary, ever wanting to keep the Indian down, down in his native state, down, just as he was years and years ago, when he first traversed this country."

Commissioner Burke said there are 335 Indian tribes in the United States, occupying an area of land as large as that embraced in the New England states.

According to Mr. Burke, the government contemplates the individualization of the Indians; that is, the dividing up of the tribes into states, and then to allot each tribe their individual holdings.

This would do much, it is believed, to make the Indian race self-supporting and self-respecting. He expressed the opinion that the idea that the Indian ought to be supported by the federal government for many years to come should be completely forgotten.

A wolf that had caused a loss of more than $10,000 in flocks and herds, and that had eluded hunters for seven years, was recently poisoned near Flagstaff, Arizona.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Uncle Wiggily hopped down stairs in his hollow stump bungalow. It was very early in the morning and after hopping down two or three steps, the bunny rabbit gentleman slid the remainder of the way on the banister railing.

For Uncle Wiggily was in great haste to get downstairs, and the reason was this: It was Christmas morning and he wanted to see what presents Santa Claus had left him.

"Hurray! Hurray! Merry Christmas, Nurse Jane!" cried the bunny, his pink nose twinkling in delight as he saw his stocking well filled.

"Merry Christmas to you!" answered the muskrat lady up in her room as she quickly got into her dressing gown and slippers to come downstairs.

"Oh, such fine presents," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Are there any for me?" Nurse Jane wanted to know.

"I should say there were!" answered Mr. Longears. "Come and see!"

Truly there were many gifts in the hollow stump bungalow that Christmas morning. There was a new carrot masher for Nurse Jane, and a lot of new pie tins, and a box to keep cake in. She really needed a box to keep cake in, for Uncle Wiggily was always after the cake. And then, in the bottom of Nurse Jane's stocking, was a lovely string of yellow beads, made of cheese.

"And the best part of these beads," said Uncle Wiggily, "is that when you get hungry you can eat them. Cheese is good to eat."

"I'll never be hungry enough to eat my lovely cheese beads," said Nurse Jane, stringing them on her neck. "But what presents did you get, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Oh, here's a book for me, telling me how to have new adventures," answered the rabbit gentleman, "and another book telling forty-seven ways of twinkling pink noses. I just wanted a book like that. And here's a pair of skates, some warm red mittens, some green ear muffers—and goodness knows I need them, and here—why bless my pink nose, Nurse Jane, here's a toy pop gun for me."

"A what?" cried the muskrat lady housekeeper. "A toy pop gun," answered Uncle Wiggily. "Yes, just as true as I'm telling you, I have a toy pop gun! Look, it shoots a cork!"

Uncle Wiggily shot the gun. "Bang! Bang!" it popped, sending the cork up to the ceiling. And when the cork came down it gently banged Nurse Jane on the nose.

"Excuse me!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "It's a good thing the cork hit the ceiling first, or it might have broken your nose, Nurse Jane. This is a very hard shooting pop gun."

"But it can't be for you, can it, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Miss Fuzzly Wuzzly. "You didn't ask Santa Claus for a pop gun, did you?"

"No," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman, with another twinkle of his pink nose. "I think Santa Claus must have made a mistake. This pop gun was intended for one of the animal boys."

"I'll take it out with me, after breakfast, and see who is the most disappointed. He will be the one to whom the pop gun belongs."

Nurse Jane thought that would be just the thing to do, so she gave Uncle Wiggily his Christmas breakfast of carrot pancakes with turnip maple sugar sauce sprinkled down the middle. Then the bunny gentleman put on his new Christmas mittens and his new Christmas ear muffers and out he hopped.

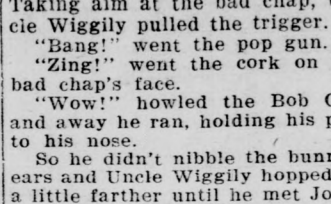

Uncle Wiggily took with him the Christmas pop gun for he knew it must belong to some little animal boy who had asked Santa Claus for the pop gun. Sometimes Santa Claus makes mistakes.

Uncle Wiggily hopped joyfully along, thinking happy Christmas thoughts, when, all of a sudden, as he was crossing a field he heard a rustling in the bushes, and out jumped the Bob Cat.

"Oh ho! You can't catch me!" cried the bunny gentleman. "My rheumatism doesn't hurt me this morning and I can hop fast." So he hopped very fast, but the Bob Cat ran faster, and he was beginning to draw close to the rabbit.

"Oh, what can I do?" thought Uncle Wiggily. "The Bob Cat will nibble my ears unless I stop him! How can I do it? Ah, I know! The Christmas pop gun that Santa Claus left me by mistake. I'll shoot the Bob Cat with the pop gun."

No sooner said than done!

"You can't catch me!" cried the bunny gentleman.

Nie Bushytail, the squirrel. And it was Johnnie's pop gun. Johnnie had asked Santa Claus for it.

"I wondered where it was," chattered Johnnie as Uncle Wiggily gave the gun to him. "But I'm glad you had it, Uncle Wiggily, to shoot the Bob Cat."

"I'm glad, also," said the bunny. And if the postage stamp doesn't jump out of the letter box and tickle the milkman's horse, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the broken drum.

Dinner Stories

In a certain southern town there was a group of gentlemen that refused to admit the dignity of labor, but preferred instead to subsist on the generosity of their relations, according to Judge.

They were commonly known as "Joe-helpers" because one of them questioned as to his means of livelihood stated that he helped Joe, and when asked what Joe did replied, "Not a thing."

The most fervent "Joe-helper" was Colonel B—, who had achieved this position through years of unimpeachable idleness. His wife kept a boarding house and was thus able to feed and clothe her worthy spouse. You can imagine, then, the colonel's scandalized expression when he was told by one of his intimates that he had by working rendered himself ineligible to further membership in the group.

"Yes, Colonel," said his informant, "last night your wife was out in the yard chopping wood. And as for you, sub, I regret to say that you were seen standing by holding the lantern for her."

Pleats, ruffles and tiers are important items in skirt developments.

"FOLEY PILLS are the best I have tried. My kidneys work a lot better since I received your generous offer," writes John W. Brogan, Adams, Mass. FOLEY PILLS are a diuretic stimulant for the KIDNEYS and while being taken close attention should be paid to the diet. Avoid sweets, pastry, starchy foods, alcoholic drinks, tea and coffee. IMPORT OF FARM PRODUCTS GROWS

Official Report Shows Trade
Balance Is Wiped Out
During Past Year

By ROBERT S. THORNTON
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—For the first time in history, the United States is importing more agricultural products than are being exported, according to the department of agriculture.

America's favorable agricultural trade balance has been completely wiped out, while the nation's total exports exceeded imports during the year 1923 by less than a quarter of a billion dollars.

This condition has come about despite the fact that the United States is the greatest agricultural country in the world.

Figures compiled by the department of agriculture show that imports of farm products during the fiscal year 1922-23, totaled $2,314,000,000, while exports totaled only $1,927,000,000.

Government economists today were of the opinion that the unfavorable trade balance reflected the country's great manufacturing activity during the past year.

Seek Raw Materials.
"The American manufactures are becoming so highly developed as to require raw materials from abroad, it becomes possible for us to have an unfavorable trade balance in agriculture and other commodities, without injury to our commercial fabric."

"The excess of agricultural imports over exports, is chiefly due, it was explained at the department of agriculture, to heavy buying of foreign stock, rubber, wool, sugar, coffee and certain fruits by America."

The United States produces about 1,000,000 tons of beet sugar annually but 90 per cent used in this country comes from Cuba. The department of agriculture is endeavoring to increase American beet sugar production and is meeting success.

Wool from Argentina, in spite of a high tariff, comes into this country in great quantities.

Reason for Decrease.
Agricultural authorities pointed out that the export of farm commodities has fallen off considerably, due to the economic collapse of certain European markets.

Department of commerce officials called attention to the heavy investment of American capital abroad as a stimulant to increased exports. In the sugar business, more than $57,000,000 was invested in 1922 in Cuban plantations. Investment figures are to be issued soon and are expected to show a material increase.

The interest on this capital, it was pointed out, must be paid principally in raw materials, since officials claim it is economically inadvisable to import more gold.

It was stated that American commerce may expect an excess of imports over exports up to June of next year.

With the easing off of manufacturing, following the peak of spring business, imports of raw material will decrease to a favorable trade balance.

A statement from the department of agriculture indicated that another factor in increase of imports, was an increase in their value.

Import Figures.
"The value of import of silk in the period ending June 30, was $414,000,000, as compared with $307,000,000 the preceding year," said the statement. "Sugar was $369,000,000, as compared with $203,000,000; coffee $182,000,000, as compared with $149,000,000; crude rubber $159,000,000, as compared with $187,000,000, and wool $177,000,000 as compared with $44,000,000."

"Wheat exports during the fiscal year, were valued at $192,000,000, as compared with $280,000,000 in the preceding year, and corn $75,000,000 compared with $116,000,000."

To equal the strength of an ant's mandibles a man would have to lift three railroad cars of coal at the same time.

Gift Habit Spread From United States

Ten days were at once removed from the year in all the papal dominions; but in the Protestant and orthodox countries the change was not accepted so quickly or so easily. Many of the dates in the first half of the eighteenth century were labeled O. S. (old style) or N. S. (new style). St. Nicholas day O. S. would fall on December 17 N. S., and thus was brought very close to Christmas. It was so close that in the United States, where saints did not amount to much, its attributes were absorbed by the greater festival. From us the change seems to have spread over the whole world.

PREDICT BANNER YEAR FOR FILMS

Period of Inactivity to Be Followed by Many New Feature Pictures

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 25.—The period of inactivity now being experienced in the ranks of film-making is about over and by next February production of films will be in full swing again.

This is the optimistic prediction of Joseph M. Schenck, one of the largest producers in the motion picture industry. The industry in general, and especially with reference to the output of new and better films, never had a better outlook than for 1924, Schenck added. He believes so strongly that the coming year holds greater prosperity for the picture-making industry than any previous twelve-month period, that he plans the expenditure of more money in 1924 in film production than ever before.

By next February, Mr. Schenck explained, "all of the films now held on the shelves will have been released and a new 'crop' needed. The producers will also be well supplied with money received from the distribution of these films. The new crop of films should be ready for the market not later than next June.

Plans Ten Features
"Personally I plan to make ten big feature pictures next year, the total cost of all to be approximately $4,000,000. The year just closing has been a banner year for the film industry, but 1924, I believe, will eclipse any other year in the history of motion picture making."

The producer sounded a warning against "outsiders" attempting to make "quick money" in pictures. Most of these attempts result in financial failure, he said.

"Men who know little of the film business should not attempt to make pictures. Unless they have sufficient money to carry them over until the pictures begin to bring returns, their efforts will end in disaster. Only makers and speculators try to make money quickly in motion pictures and then get out. Most of this class has been eliminated, I believe."

"The day of carelessness in motion pictures is gone," Mr. Schenck said in predicting better pictures next year and greater efficiency.

Waste of Money
"In the past it was a common thing for a director to have a 'set' made and then decide not to use it. That practice cost producers vast sums of money. Directors have now gotten on a better working basis and there is little time lost in making a picture. The average feature film is now made in two months, whereas it once took three months or longer."

Pictures of human interest appeal and true to life will lead the field in 1924, Mr. Schenck believes. The day of the costume picture is not over, he added, declaring that pictures will be popular so long as they appeal to the romantic feelings of theater patrons whether of "costume" period or not.

Women constitute the greatest film patrons and must be catered to, Mr. Schenck declared. Only a few stars in his opinion are better attractions than the name of the picture being shown. The name of the director, he thinks, is of second importance.

If Wife Leaves Home, No Alimony, Decision

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 25.—Ruling that "the wife can not abandon the dwelling place which her husband may have provided for her and then seek support at his expense," the third district court of appeal today ordered that the Fresno county superior court reconsider its decision awarding Mrs. Houghapen Taylan $100 per month maintenance in her suit against Gaius Taylan, her husband. The court granted the appeal of Taylan for a rehearing.

The couple separated after Taylan instituted an action for annulment of the marriage on the grounds of fraud and desertion.

CHORUS OF HATE REPLACES HYMNS

Grim Battle Over Boy Splits Little Jersey Town In Warring Factions

MADISON, N. J., Dec. 25.—Grim faced men with bitter voices planning to drive out of town Francis Kluxen III, aged 16, considered to have been wrongfully acquitted of the murder of 11-year-old Janette Lawrence, have replaced the choruses singing Christmas carols in Madison.

Monell Sayre, millionaire banker, and executive of the pension fund of the Episcopal church of America, a board of which J. Pierpont Morgan is also a member, who insists that he will adopt the boy on January 4, despite the menaces and warnings of his neighbors, has also found the community's Christmas spirit turned to vitriol.

Four attempts have recently been made on the boy's life, according to Sayre.

Alleges Persecution
"It is a plain matter of elementary Christianity. Francis has been persecuted for two years. Perhaps I also shall be persecuted. The neighbors have warned me not to keep Francis in my house."

Members of Grace Episcopal church protested the presence of Kluxen in the church with Sayre a week ago.

"The idea that Christ is a sort of possession of certain kind of people of a certain social standard in a community is to me rather startling," Sayre declared. "In the course of the debate with the vestry, I was constrained to express the view that I wasn't aware that Christ is a sort of golf club deity to whose presence you couldn't be admitted, except by the votes of a certain kind of people."

The boy is carefully guarded by his relatives and spends most of his time in the old Sayre colonial mansion.

Lincoln Highway Is Open to Auto Traffic

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 25.—With less than six inches of snow on Echo Summit, the Lincoln highway via Placerville still is open to overland traffic with many cars coming over daily.

This is most unusual and is due to the open season. Heavy snows are expected at any time, which will close the pass until spring.

WETS AND DRYs ARE NOW UNITED

Anyway, Both Factions Seek to Get Publicity Put on Bootleg List

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—The wets and drys find a common platform on which to stand today, a joint demand on local authorities for "pitiless publicity" concerning the 1400 names in the bootleggers' client list captured in holiday raids by enforcement agents.

Virgil G. Hinshaw, chairman of the prohibition national committee and superintendent of the World Prohibition and Reform Federation, spoke for the drys. He issued a statement demanding publicity and exposure of those "high in the official and social life of Washington," whose names are understood to be on the customers' list.

For the wets, Captain W. H. Stayton, head of the association against the prohibition amendment, wrote a letter to Prohibition Commissioner Hines, demanding that he authorize the publication "of a complete and unexpurgated list of the names found."

List Disappears
Meanwhile the list of names itself apparently has disappeared. The city police asserted it has been turned over to the federal agents of the internal revenue bureau, but this was denied at the bureau and no one could be found in either department who would admit he knew its present whereabouts, although several officials admit having seen it. Hinshaw not only demanded that publicity and prosecution be meted out to the customers, but he also demanded that President Coolidge himself take a hand in the matter.

Noted Distilleries
This reference was to the fact that among Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's vast interests in Pennsylvania were several noted distilleries.

"Suppose," continued the reform leader's statement, "that a

DEATH COMES AS CHRISTMAS BOON

Years of Agony Ended When Grim Reaper Summons Suffering Girl

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 25.—Helen Hamilton, the girl who asked death as her Christmas gift, will be buried tomorrow.

Christmas day her body, a shadow, after eight years of constant suffering, rests in the room where gifts, from almost every state in the union, are piled high. "I want my child's body with me Christmas day," said Mrs. Hamilton, the child's widow mother. "Death was the gift for which she prayed. I know she is happy."

Helen Hamilton's plight attracted nation-wide attention a month ago. At that time she and her mother were evicted from their home. The landlady objected to a sick child in the home.

At that time, Helen wanted to live. Her thirteenth birthday was approaching. Her prayers were granted. Eight years ago Helen, while playing with other children, fell into a ditch. Her companions, in a spirit of play, covered her with dirt. She fainted. It was discovered her heart had dilated until every waking hour was one of pain.

Following her thirteenth birthday, she grew somewhat better. Then a reaction set in. For the last week she suffered intense pain.

"Please, Jesus, take me," was her constant prayer. She died Sunday. Her last request was that her coffin be inscribed: "Mother's darling, sleeping with Jesus."

The funeral will be public. It is expected thousands will attend. cabinet member were guilty of some other felony calling for two years' imprisonment—would the president sit idly by?

"If these 1400 felons go unpunished, then there is the open invitation to all people throughout the length and breadth of the land to turn criminal. These law violators must be prosecuted to the limit.

"There is a certain class of people in this country who might be called the 'inebriate rich,' who, in order to satisfy their own gluttony, would pull the whole country down to a level with their debauched selves."
